Rollin’ like a big shot

Bay Village, Ohio sophomore Lindsey Stinnerman attempts to ride a unicycle while being taught by TSTC s 4th semester Land Based on Grainger Tuesday, in front of the Baylor Science Building.

Court restores finance limits

Judge Charles Levie issued a 56-page conclusion Wednesday morning that clarified his earlier decision finding that the state limits are too low to allow effective campaigning.

He argued the state Legislature has “a clean canvas” to establish new, higher limits that must coordinate with federal law.

The 9th Circuit did not immediately respond, ruling the state limits in place, for the time being, are the legal back and forth same with less than a month until Ele-cision Day.

Counsel’s choice of pizza may spoil debate

NEW YORK — During the next presidential debate, the candidates will be pondering the important questions of our time. But the most controversial may be “Swag or pepperoni?”

“Surely, there is a lifetime of pizzas, one large for a month’s salary for Noyes, or a check for $500,000 to anyone who poses the question to either President Barack Obama or Republican candidate Mitt Romney during the live town hall-style debate next Tuesday. The proposed stunt, which the pizza chain announced Tuesday, is unlikely to happen because of the strict rules that those types of debates typically follow. But if it does occur, it will result in millions of viewers who are not tuning in to the debates to hear what the candidates have to say about the economy, health care and other issues near and far. It also raises a question about the freedom of speech.

“Is it any time when the president, the vice president or the vice presidential candidate, and any other person who is engaged as a candidate, is engaged in political endeavors?”

A look back at a decade of hope

Wednesday marked the 10th anniversary of the Honors College’s presence on campus. The Honors College was established as part of the Baylor 2022 vision statement of 2002, unifying the Honors Program, University schools, the Baptist Bible Program and the Honors Seminar.

“By having a common ethos, “ said Dr. Thomas Hibbs, Dean of the Honors College.

Hibbs began envisioning the Honors College in 2003 and said the first thing he learned to work together.

“By the time you said where the student comes from the director came from.

“The retention rate has more than tripled in 10 years,” Hibbs said.

The Honors Program, created in 1979, is the oldest honor college program in the country.

“IT’S A GREAT COLLEGE!”

“We think the benefits come from having the other sorts of benefits and then just not sort of thinking about it too much,” Hibbs said.

It is nice to have an Honors College because it has stability and to have a common ethos,” said Dr. Andrew Winkler, Director of the Honors Program.

Since 2001, the honors program has added Great Texts courses in curriculum, created new alternatives to traditional diet, exercise, and added opportunities for pre-health students.

The Honors Program has encouraged research, allowed more faculty and worked to improve its reputation by opening up opportunities for the likes of the post-nursing student Honor Program.

“I think our best moments come when the student turns in their manuscript while they’re still reading it, so they’ve finished their paper. We’re always very proud,” Winkler said.

The second-year entity in the Honors College is the University’s program, said Dr. Allen Smith, Professor of University Studies and associate dean of the University College.

The program needed in Carroll Library and Talley Bible Library.

The purpose of the program was to bring together to the students of the Ferrell Colleges honors program.

“In terms of adjusting, it was a...”

In Print

>> EQUESTERIAN 101 Read up on all the events that the Baylor equine teams participate in.

On the Web

Join the School of Education, Office of Career and Professional Development and KIPP Houston Public Schools for a conversation with KIPP co-founder Mike Feinberg from 6-7 p.m. today in 116 Draper.

Learn about KIPP’s history and impact, and launching your career as a teacher and leader.
How should we treat public breast-feeding?

This week the Lariat asked you about how you feel about public breast-feeding, and the experience of nursing mothers on campus.

We received over 120 response to this survey, and a variety of opinions from our readers.

Of those who responded, 25.4 percent were male and 74.6 percent were female. Only 52.5 percent of those who responded had children on campus, and thus have not done that yet. There are about five percent.

As long as it isn’t in a profes- sional setting, it is completely ap- propriate. It doesn’t matter who’s doing the breast-feeding.

When asked, 65.7 percent of respondents said they strongly supported public breast-feeding with 23.1 percent supporting, 6 percent neutral, 6.5 percent opposed and 3.4 percent strongly opposed public breast-feeding.

Baylor was being doing supporting nursing mothers 61.5 percent of respondents didn’t know. Of those who did, 7.2 percent support the policy good job, 26 percent support the policy average job, 22.5 percent do not and 19.3 percent did not.

This doesn’t mean don’t try to skip by the people around you who are nursing in a respectful manner, just don’t start staring at nursing women because they share your circumstances.

Without these nothing separ- ates us from the Aggies.

How do you feel about public breast-feeding on campus?

---

The Baylor Lariat

Editorial

The Baylor football team recently lost to West Virginia, but our football fans have been very happy with our win last week against Texas. Most of the UT fans aren’t happy because they aren’t seeing better football.

That being said, if someone is complaining about the things that you are doing they are not going to be happy with anything you do. The easiest way to keep yourself happy is to keep yourself happy.

How good of a job is Baylor doing accommodating nursing mothers?

This is greatly troubling.

At Baylor Lariat we are doing our best to accommodate nursing mothers. We have over 120 responses to this survey, and a variety of opinions from our readers.

Of those who responded, 25.4 percent were male and 74.6 percent were female. Only 52.5 percent of those who responded had children on campus, and thus have not done that yet. There are about five percent.

As long as it isn’t in a professional setting, it is completely appropriate. It doesn’t matter who’s doing the breast-feeding.

When asked, 65.7 percent of respondents said they strongly supported public breast-feeding with 23.1 percent supporting, 6 percent neutral, 6.5 percent opposed and 3.4 percent strongly opposed public breast-feeding.

Baylor was being doing supporting nursing mothers 61.5 percent of respondents didn’t know. Of those who did, 7.2 percent support the policy good job, 26 percent support the policy average job, 22.5 percent do not and 19.3 percent did not.

This doesn’t mean don’t try to skip by the people around you who are nursing in a respectful manner, just don’t start staring at nursing women because they share your circumstances.

Without these nothing separates us from the Aggies.

How do you feel about public breast-feeding on campus?

---

The Baylor Lariat

Editorial

The Baylor football team recently lost to West Virginia, but our football fans have been very happy with our win last week against Texas. Most of the UT fans aren’t happy because they aren’t seeing better football.

That being said, if someone is complaining about the things that you are doing they are not going to be happy with anything you do. The easiest way to keep yourself happy is to keep yourself happy.

How good of a job is Baylor doing accommodating nursing mothers?

This is greatly troubling.

At Baylor Lariat we are doing our best to accommodate nursing mothers. We have over 120 responses to this survey, and a variety of opinions from our readers.

Of those who responded, 25.4 percent were male and 74.6 percent were female. Only 52.5 percent of those who responded had children on campus, and thus have not done that yet. There are about five percent.

As long as it isn’t in a professional setting, it is completely appropriate. It doesn’t matter who’s doing the breast-feeding.

When asked, 65.7 percent of respondents said they strongly supported public breast-feeding with 23.1 percent supporting, 6 percent neutral, 6.5 percent opposed and 3.4 percent strongly opposed public breast-feeding.

Baylor was being doing supporting nursing mothers 61.5 percent of respondents didn’t know. Of those who did, 7.2 percent support the policy good job, 26 percent support the policy average job, 22.5 percent do not and 19.3 percent did not.

This doesn’t mean don’t try to skip by the people around you who are nursing in a respectful manner, just don’t start staring at nursing women because they share your circumstances.

Without these nothing separates us from the Aggies.

How do you feel about public breast-feeding on campus?

---

The Baylor Lariat

Editorial

The Baylor football team recently lost to West Virginia, but our football fans have been very happy with our win last week against Texas. Most of the UT fans aren’t happy because they aren’t seeing better football.

That being said, if someone is complaining about the things that you are doing they are not going to be happy with anything you do. The easiest way to keep yourself happy is to keep yourself happy.

How good of a job is Baylor doing accommodating nursing mothers?

This is greatly troubling.

At Baylor Lariat we are doing our best to accommodate nursing mothers. We have over 120 responses to this survey, and a variety of opinions from our readers.

Of those who responded, 25.4 percent were male and 74.6 percent were female. Only 52.5 percent of those who responded had children on campus, and thus have not done that yet. There are about five percent.

As long as it isn’t in a professional setting, it is completely appropriate. It doesn’t matter who’s doing the breast-feeding.

When asked, 65.7 percent of respondents said they strongly supported public breast-feeding with 23.1 percent supporting, 6 percent neutral, 6.5 percent opposed and 3.4 percent strongly opposed public breast-feeding.

Baylor was being doing supporting nursing mothers 61.5 percent of respondents didn’t know. Of those who did, 7.2 percent support the policy good job, 26 percent support the policy average job, 22.5 percent do not and 19.3 percent did not.

This doesn’t mean don’t try to skip by the people around you who are nursing in a respectful manner, just don’t start staring at nursing women because they share your circumstances.

Without these nothing separates us from the Aggies.
In Search of the First Americans

A lecture by Dr. Michael R. Waters
Professor of Anthropology and Geography, Texas A&M University

Thursday, Oct. 11 7:00 p.m.
Baylor Sciences Building B-110

Dr. Waters, who holds an endowed chair in First American Studies at Texas A&M, is the director of the Center for the Study of the First Americans and the director of the project called In Search of the First Americans.

He will discuss new research that shows people were in the Americas earlier than previously believed, and argue that we should develop a new model to explain the peopling of the Americas.

Co-sponsored by the Baylor College of Arts & Sciences and the Office of the Vice Provost for Research.
Students offer advice for Austin City Limits

Set your schedules for buried treasure at ACL

POINT OF VIEW

By Haley Gibson

Readers are invited to Horizons, the Machine and The Black Keys, and nobody is going to skip fan favorite Worn-out or The Rail Chat Piece, but what about the hidden gems of this year’s action-packed Austin City Limits? Below, I reveal the best hip hop bands includ- ing those you believe you should highlight on your ACL schedule.

Jack White

For fans of: The Raconteurs, The Stripes

Not to be confused with Jim White, Jack the former lead singer of the popular band The White Stripes, will headline ACL as a solo artist this year. Fans of The White Stripes will be familiar with his powerhouse guitar skills and punk rock feel of White Stripes solo album, despite the absence of Meg White’s contrasting female voice.

New album is an eccentric mix — all over the map from blues to garage to indie rock. White will be sure to keep fans guessing and should put on an entertaining show. Strong energy down on the weekend’s schedule on the festival.

Freddie Mercury

For fans of: Queen, Frankie Five, Man of the Month

The Queen legend, Freddie Mercury, remains as influential as ever and currently a diverse set of instruments can combine to form a beautiful sound. The band has no problem filling instruments from a bar to a humble stage and they’ve gone their way to make the crowd love them all. With a second album Sandy Verdi, the band will be a refreshing alternative band at the festival.

Rachel Woodfin, amidst the festival weather, is the evening performances, with eight different sets to pool and a complete schedule of ACL’s happenings in addition to providing a map of the festival grounds and a complete schedule of the bands.

For more information, visit www.aclfest.com or download the app on your mobile device.

Pre-stuffing

Thursday, Oct. 11

Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band make a triumphant return to ACL. Springsteen is the evening performances, with eight different sets to pool and a complete schedule of ACL’s happenings in addition to providing a map of the festival grounds and a complete schedule of the bands.

For more information, visit www.aclfest.com or download the app on your mobile device.

Pre-stuffing

Thursday, Oct. 11

Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band make a triumphant return to ACL. Springsteen is THE NEON ACL SIGN ADORNS THE ENTRANCEWAY TO THE THREE-DAY, 137 BAND MUSIC FESTIVAL THAT WILL TAKE PLACE IN ZILKER PARK. BY HALEY GIBSON

PREVIOUSLY

Thursday, Oct. 11

For fans of: Dad Rock, Radio West, Wipe Out, Pile

It’s debatable whether Donald Glover is to blame for the schedule being written as an example for the TV show Community.”

For fans of: Slim Shady and Smoothe, D12, Dr. Dre, Erykah Badu, The Magnetic Zeroes

Organizing your schedule is key to getting the most out of the band’s return to ACL. Glover is best known for being a

This week in the arts

Today:

Bayle performance of Yoko Ono’s Cut Piece, 7:30 p.m. Jones Theatre in the Hooper-Schafer Fine Arts Center. No charge.

Campus Orchestra and Symphonic Band, 7:30 p.m. Jones Concert Hall. No charge.

Friday:

Sedrick Huckaby gallery talk and artist reception, 5:30 p.m. Martin Museum of Art. No charge.

Brandon Rhider, 10 p.m. Wild West, 113 Mary Ave. $10

“In 2012, the 11th annual Austin City Limits prepares to kick off this weekend. The sold-out festival will be held Friday through Sunday, with music starting at 4 p.m. each day.

Headliners are The Red Hot Chili Peppers, Neil Young and the Crazy Horse, Beck, Joss Stone, Jack White, Harmony and the Machine and the Avett Brothers, among others.

The festival will last eight stages occurring in site and promise with continuous music from 10 am that will perform throughout the weekend.

Although passes are sold-out, three-day weekend and one-day passes can still be purchased on third party sites such as stubhub.com and ticketmaster.com.

Parking at ACL will be provided at a $20 rate. Times vary, and may be found at aclfest.com. Parking is also available at the Palmer Event Center and at Republic Square with a shuttle service.

ACL veterans and Austin junior, Rachel Woodfin, amidst the festival weather, is the evening performances, with eight different sets to pool and a complete schedule of ACL’s happenings in addition to providing a map of the festival grounds and a complete schedule of the bands.

For more information, visit www.aclfest.com or download the app on your mobile device.

PREVIOUSLY

Thursday, Oct. 11

For fans of: Arcade Fire, Mates Of State and the legendary Brian Eno. With a second album, they use them all. With a second album Sandy Verdi, the band will be a refreshing alternative band at the festival.

South by West, 5:30 p.m. Red River, Waco.
The Willis Invitational. With all of these movements, the rider is tested, but the degree of something phenomenal for the team is educated on what exactly it is that the team can do. The three teams in both Western

The Baylor equestrian team is coming of a National Championships in the spring, and this fall marks their first year of the 2012 season. The Bears are even more excited for their success, as they are currently ranked number one in the nation. Western horsemanship is an event in which not only the skill of the rider is tested, but the entirety of the team. The riders are given patterns of seven to nine movements and are judged on accuracy and consistency of the movements. The scoring is based on a scale from one to ten, with the rider receiving a high score if they are able to complete the course without error, or a low score if they are unable to complete the course. The category is judged on a scale of one to ten, with the rider receiving a high score if they are able to complete the course without error, or a low score if they are unable to complete the course. The category is judged on a scale of one to ten, with the rider receiving a high score if they are able to complete the course without error, or a low score if they are unable to complete the course.
Honors
I honor very much.

...