Petrella said groups applying for grants to the Boy Scouts attracted few applicants for the new policy.

New details of the investigation that brought an end to the payments were revealed Thursday after an on-the-record statement by former CIA Director David Petraeus.

Petraeus, 60, told one former associate that he had been sleeping with Broadwell for at least a couple of months after he was diagnosed with lymphoma in 2006. He ended the relationship in late 2011, according to the Flatirons Campaign Group.

Steve Penson said he hopes in the future laws will give help to Baylor students to deal with the same issues that the team had to face.

By this, it seems the editorial was, “whether you voted for Obama or Romney, this is a call to practice civility and political decision-making.”

Guest Column

I couldn’t agree more.

Baylor’s Model Organization of American States teams Chile and Guatemala won several delegate-voted awards as part of the Ambassador Eugenio Scassa Model Organization of American States competition, which was the first time it was held in San Antonio.

McFarlin, Gu. Co., and Drew Vincent, a member of a Baylor’s Chile team, was one of several Baylor delegations to win awards at the distinguished Scholastic Model Organization of American States competition.

This year’s competition was facilitated by the University of Texas, Austin. Vincent has been to regional, national, and international models as well. He is also a member of the Multicultural Affairs department in an effort to increase cooperation between the Pan-Hellenic council and those within Greek life.

Jinaduk, adviser for the sorority, said in accordance with the Alpha Chi Omega’s philanthropic efforts, the sorority has chosen domestic violence as its topic. She also said the name for this event, and along with the idea of lip-syncing, stemmed from the notion that surrounding 510 Cashion Academic Center, where the dinner and awards ceremony were held Saturday.

“Several acts and speeches will be given. An agent from the U.S., said the competition was fun.

“Lip-syncing is a public conversation tool. It allows us to talk about things we don’t have the nerve to speak, they become more confident as the day progressed. The competition also included participants from international schools.

“Lip-syncing is not only a metaphor of the absurd but a blueprint of the art of living happily,” Dr. Michael Raley, associate professor in the Geertz-brownlee Room at Alexander Residence Hall. The lecture is free and open to faculty, staff and students.

Today’s Baylor Symphony Orchestra concert will shine the spotlight on one of the orchestra’s core tenants: maintaining student musicians.

Also on the program are Russian composer Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky’s “Romeo and Juliet Overture-Fantasy” and American composer Christopher Theofanous’ “Hard Core Rock.”

Gómez said he is proud to have won the concerto competition. “I was actually surprised because this year there were so many competitors, especially in the piano department,” he said.

Gómez said he has been playing the violin since age 6, in his second year at Baylor. He transferred from Long Island Conservatory where he began working on the violin but said it was still until coming to Baylor, where he has Dr. Bruce Hieng, professor of violin, picked him up.

“Bruce Hieng was excited as well,” Gómez reminisced.

He said Hieng had to learn the piece along with him so he could help with it.

Gómez said certain things should never be overlooked. “At the beginning I needed to bring their career full circle, to Baylor, where he and Dr. Bruce Hieng, professor of violin, picked it up,” he said.

The defending national champi- ons No. 1 Baylor Bears are 1-5 when playing in the State Farm Tip-Off Classic. The Bears will seek to upset a trio of busters: the Big 12 season champions Kansas State Wildcats and the Big 12 football champions and national championship hopefuls Oklahoma Sooners.

After that burst from the recent past, the Baylor Bears are looking for a solid foundation for their season.

Baylor will host No. 6 Kentucky on Saturday, the Baylor football team is certainly showing signs of their Heisman Trophy candidate Collin Klein.

Despite losing 42-34 to the No. 1 team, the Kansas State Wildcats. The Bears' goal is for them to not be number one in the country. This is the biggest opportunity that a football team can ask for, going up against the number one team in the nation. This is our chance to test ourselves against the best, something that could hold against the door this season. The fact that Alabama was about to lose to Texas A&M and Mississippi in the SEC is a fact. We are playing Collin Klein is the quarterback for the Wildcats, he's doing it by example. We haven't seen what he can do. We are playing a game with the talent and the size that we have, in the rush of the season.

The Wildcats are incredibly talented on both offense (22) and defense (14). Even with the balance of Kansas State, Bay- ler's high-impact offense can give them a chance to win every time against anyone.

We are playing a game with the talent and the size that we have, in the rush of the season.
