Prayer services to be held with intercession emphasis on world crises, current conflicts

By Kevin Luong

Dietary Science

The Great Recession occurred between the years 2007 to 2009, according to the National Bureau of Economic Research. Wilkinson used data for her research previously collected by the Health and Retirement Study sponsored by the National Institute of Aging. She applied it to the years the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended. “I know how exactly financially stressed they were in 2006, before the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended.”

Wilkinson said she made for an interesting study design that allowed her to look in changes in financial stress during the longest recession since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

The Great Recession occurred between the years 2007 to 2009, according to the National Bureau of Economic Research. Wilkinson used data for her research previously collected by the Health and Retirement Study sponsored by the National Institute of Aging. She applied it to the years the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended. “I know how exactly financially stressed they were in 2006, before the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended.”

Wilkinson said this made for an interesting study design that allowed her to look in changes in financial stress during the longest recession since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

New business school campus to introduce innovative technology

By Brooks Whitehurst

With the addition of innovative layout and technology, the Paul L. Foster Campus for Business and Innovation will welcome students into its walls fostering flexibility and forward-thinking. “What will be different are the classrooms,” said Anthony Lapo, director of the Casey Computer Center. “Rather than rooms designed with a linear mode only, you’ve got much more opportunity for faculty to design what they need based on advantage of the technology. Part of what is innovative about this building is it’s flexibility and it’s adaptability.”

Lapo is also a harbinger on the one decision made, a group responsible for making her decisions regarding the new business facility. Classrooms in the new building will sport furniture that offers students an adjustable classroom layout, multiple electronic wireless displays and a whiteboard rail system. The new classroom will have seating that allows.

Apple introduces new smartwatch, releases iPhone 6

By Michael Liedtke and Anick Jesdanun

Associated Press

CUPERTINO, Calif. — Apple unveiled its long-anticipated smartwatch Tuesday, introducing a device that transplants the features of an iPhone onto a smaller screen that’s never as much a real length away.

Dubbed the Apple Watch, the gadget marks the technology trend-setter’s attempt to usher in an era of wearable computing and lift its sales with another revolutionary product.

The watch and its partner phone product are the latest advancement in student activities community initiatives, said it is a "PRAYER," page 4

Raising funds in the sun

Students silently climb inflatable waterslides as part of Alpha Delta Pi’s H2Oso event. The event on Fountain Mall featured raffle tickets and inflatable moon bouncers.

Proceeds benefited McDonald House Charities.

Professor’s study on Great Recession has unexpected results

By Amelia Locke

February 10, 2014

While the Great Recession left many in financial strife, research by a Baylor professor shows some adults united through the tumultuous time to lessen their strain.

A study conducted by Dr. Lindy Wilkinson, associate professor of sociology, discovered that adults united through the tumultuous time to lessen their strain.

The Great Recession occurred between the years 2007 to 2009, according to the National Bureau of Economic Research. Wilkinson used data for her research previously collected by the Health and Retirement Study sponsored by the National Institute of Aging. She applied it to the years the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended. “I know how exactly financially stressed they were in 2006, before the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended.”

Wilkinson said she made for an interesting study design that allowed her to look in changes in financial stress during the longest recession since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

The Great Recession occurred between the years 2007 to 2009, according to the National Bureau of Economic Research. Wilkinson used data for her research previously collected by the Health and Retirement Study sponsored by the National Institute of Aging. She applied it to the years the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended. “I know how exactly financially stressed they were in 2006, before the recession began in 2007, and then I know how they felt in 2010 which is right after the recession ended.”

Wilkinson said this made for an interesting study design that allowed her to look in changes in financial stress during the longest recession since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

New business school campus to introduce innovative technology

By Brooks Whitehurst

With the addition of innovative layout and technology, the Paul L. Foster Campus for Business and Innovation will welcome students into its walls fostering flexibility and forward-thinking. “What will be different are the classrooms,” said Anthony Lapo, director of the Casey Computer Center. “Rather than rooms designed with a linear mode only, you’ve got much more opportunity for faculty to design what they need based on advantage of the technology. Part of what is innovative about this building is it’s flexibility and it’s adaptability.”

Lapo is also a harbinger on the one decision made, a group responsible for making her decisions regarding the new business facility. Classrooms in the new building will sport furniture that offers students an adjustable classroom layout, multiple electronic wireless displays and a whiteboard rail system. The new classroom will have seating that allows.

Apple introduces new smartwatch, releases iPhone 6

By Michael Liedtke and Anick Jesdanun

Associated Press

CUPERTINO, Calif. — Apple unveiled its long-anticipated smartwatch Tuesday, introducing a device that transplants the features of an iPhone onto a smaller screen that’s never as much a real length away.

Dubbed the Apple Watch, the gadget marks the technology trend-setter’s attempt to usher in an era of wearable computing and lift its sales with another revolutionary product.

The watch and its partner phone product are the latest advancement in student activities community initiatives, said it is a "PRAYER," page 4
Editorial

The Pledge of Allegiance has not been a longstanding tradition in America, in fact, it was only officially adopted as the symbol of America by Congress in 1942. The adoption was done largely as a reaction to increased anti-Americanism during the World War II efforts. It is estimated that the verse was not used until the early 1940s.

For 60 years, the verses have remained the same. The only time the verses were changed was in 1948 when the “under God” was added as another point of reference that would be more in accordance with the public opinion of the United States as the Cold War began.

To say the least, the pledge has been attacked by many as a weapon of nationalist rhetoric with the goal of expanding the sphere of influence of the US. This has been a goal since the United States was founded, as a legal standard, forcing an individual to stand for the Pledge of Allegiance is unconstitutional. In the 1943 Supreme Court decision, “West Virginia State Board of Education v. Barnette,” Robert H. Jackson was in the opinion of the Court that if an individual wishes on any joyful occasion of living in one of the greatest countries in world history, the least we can do is make a pledge of honor to military men who have given their lives for their country. However, forcing individuals to stand for the pledge would take away the constitutional rights of the American people.

The Barnette decision states that the country was founded on and continues to be a country of unprecedented opportunities we now have because of the inalienable rights of our forefathers. In fact, it would be a crime of idolatry to take any action that would be seen as if the American people were required to place their sacrifices for the country they love above the sacrifices their forefathers made in defense of their freedom. It is the fundamental right of Americans to decide for themselves what they will believe and practice.

The Pledge of Allegiance should not only be removed from school grounds but also from every public building and place including the White House. It is the fundamental right of Americans to decide what they will believe and practice. The Pledge of Allegiance has no place in this country and the country that is not free to believe and think freely cannot live. Our freedom of speech and religion survive because we are forced to believe and think and pray the way they choose to live and in that way we are free. We are forced to comply and follow meaningfully ordered frameworks.

Standing for the pledge of allegiance is not disrespectful — it is an exercise of our rights and free speech. Rather, it is an exercise of Constitutionally protected free speech. If someone chooses to stand for the pledge it is their right to do so. No one has the right to forcibly or otherwise make someone stand for the pledge.

For refusing to stand during the invocation dedicated to dispelling any lingering bad blood or prejudice that America was founded on and what millions of men fought and died for, America will go on."

The legal analysis is as equally questionable as the personal attack. The foundation’s letter to the community on the topic was completely nonsensical. The only logical conclusion that could be drawn from their letter is that by not standing for the pledge children are12

Meet the Staff

Baylor Senior

Lariat. Follow him @HuizingaDanny on Twitter.

“Father, we thank you for bringing us together tonight … we thank you for allowing us to be a part of this family. May God bless you and your life.”

The man could have agreed to stand for the pledge of allegiance and still have the same rights he holds today. It’s surely good to respect and honor our military men. But what is the problem? The man could have agreed to stand for the pledge of allegiance and still have the same rights he holds today. It’s surely good to respect and honor our military men.

It’s highly unfair for us to expect other people to believe in something we believe in, especially if we don’t believe in a statement that we believe in. Especially if we don’t believe that certain people are allowed to believe the way we believe. This is one of them. People who do not believe in the pledge of allegiance should not be subject to any threat or violence. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the的观点“separation of church and state” first gained prominent legal power in 1942, when the Supreme Court wrote the historic First Amendment of the Constitution in Barnette. Today we know that promoting nontheism in schools is in fact constitutional, but any such action by the constitution allows for a reasonable accommodation of religion.

February 2016

In the United States, there are many great things happening right now in Waco. It’s the dawn of a new era for Waco. The sports teams and facilities are getting even better. This is because the people in Waco are determined to do great things with this opportunity. It is the same opportunity that the country was founded on and continues to be a country of unprecedented opportunities we now have because of the sacrifices of our forefathers. In fact, it would be a crime of idolatry to take any action that would be seen as if the American people were required to place their sacrifices for the country they love above the sacrifices their forefathers made in defense of their freedom. It is the fundamental right of Americans to decide what they will believe and practice. The Pledge of Allegiance has no place in this country and the country that is not free to believe and think freely cannot live.

Our freedom of speech and religion survive because we are forced to believe and think and pray the way they choose to live and in that way we are free. We are forced to comply and follow meaningfully ordered frameworks. Standing for the pledge of allegiance is not disrespectful — it is an exercise of our rights and free speech. Rather, it is an exercise of Constitutionally protected free speech. If someone chooses to stand for the pledge it is their right to do so. No one has the right to forcibly or otherwise make someone stand for the pledge. If someone chooses to stand for the pledge it is their right to do so. No one has the right to forcibly or otherwise make someone stand for the pledge.

For refusing to stand during the invocation dedicated to dispelling any lingering bad blood or prejudice that America was founded on and what millions of men fought and died for, America will go on."

The legal analysis is as equally questionable as the personal attack. The foundation’s letter to the community on the topic was completely nonsensical. The only logical conclusion that could be drawn from their letter is that by not standing for the pledge children are12

Meet the Staff

Baylor Senior

Lariat. Follow him @HuizingaDanny on Twitter.

“Father, we thank you for bringing us together tonight … we thank you for allowing us to be a part of this family. May God bless you and your life.”

The man could have agreed to stand for the pledge of allegiance and still have the same rights he holds today. It’s surely good to respect and honor our military men. But what is the problem? The man could have agreed to stand for the pledge of allegiance and still have the same rights he holds today. It’s surely good to respect and honor our military men.

It’s highly unfair for us to expect other people to believe in something we believe in, especially if we don’t believe in a statement that we believe in. Especially if we don’t believe that certain people are allowed to believe the way we believe. This is one of them. People who do not believe in the pledge of allegiance should not be subject to any threat or violence. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.

Assuming the man was a Christian, exam- ining for the Christian position on prayer and religion in the public school is very insightful. The belief in prayer is a Christian belief and does not infringe on the constitutional protections for nontheistic individuals. Regardless of an individual’s beliefs, the opinions of others on religion other than the Bible are not the issue. The only thing these people are doing is exercising their own rights.
Most Baylor students are not strangers to high tuition costs and working long hours to keep up with their fees. Alodia senior Austin Dyrkeman is offered a solution to both problems: pay student workers in college and running a business.

"I personally have learned from being an entrepreneurship major to take part without worrying about the stipulation for graduating students," said Katy senior Andrew Futcher, an employee for the company.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We want one-on-one with employees to make sure they understand the value they're putting in the company."

Baylor’s new partnership with American University will offer students an intensive program for a wider array of studies across 12 majors.

"Baylor allows you to experience, " Dyrkeman said. "It allows students to network as well."

"Scholarship money can't be taxed," Dorchester said. "I want my employees to have money to go toward what they need at school."

"Students interested in finding out more about the program can attend an interest meeting at 4 p.m. today in 100 Morrison Hall.

Follow us on Twitter! @bulariat @BULariatSports @BULariatArts @LariatEditorial

The Baylor Lariat
Find us on Facebook!

Car wash jobs help students pay their tuition

By Elizabeth Spencer

American University, Baylor join to offer more opportunities

American University will offer a student-operated business to students interested in entrepreneurship.

"There’s something unique about entrepreneurship student in the modern world."

"With 2,000 internships available at American University, they’re putting in the company."

"Being an entrepreneurship student, I planned to run something and to start a business right out of school," Dyrkeman said. "Of course there’s some imminent concerns with experience coming out of college and running a business."

"I want my employees to see where the future of the company leads, although he didn’t expect or want it to grow into a massive franchise.

"Flexibility and working with many college students’ schedules is a priority. Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We want one-on-one with employees to make sure they understand the value they’re putting in the company."

"I want my employees to see where the future of the company leads, although he didn’t expect or want it to grow into a massive franchise.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.

"We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said. "We definitely want more quality over quantity," Dyrkeman said.
Recession

- Business
  - New business facility for students entering the workforce, Lapes said. "The new business facility will give us that," she said. "It’s a first class facility combined with the quality of education that the business school afforded students will give us a great competitive edge," Lapes said.

- EMPLOYMENT
  - "I think that alleviated some of the stress they were feeling," said Round Rock's Dr. Tetyana Shippee, who has been following Apple since the introduction of the iPhone.
  - "We're conveying that our Creator."
Quadruple Chocolate Soft Fudgy Pudding Cookies proved to be worth the time and supplies required to make the dessert. The pudding in the recipe helps keep the cookies moist and soft, even after days in air-tight storage.

What to do
1. Mix together the butter, sugars, egg and vanilla in a large bowl on medium-high speed for 4 minutes, or until a creamy mixture is formed.
2. Pour pudding mix and cocoa into the mixture, and mix on low speed for 1 minute, or until everything is combined.
3. Pour the flour, baking soda and salt (optional) into the mixture, and mix on low speed for 5 minutes, or until everything is combined.
4. Pour the chocolate chips and chopped chocolate into the mixture and mix on low speed for 30 seconds, or until everything is combined.
5. Form approximately 17 balls of dough using a 1/4 cup scoop or your hands. Flatten the balls slightly before placing them on pans. Cover the pans with plastic wrap, and refrigerate for at least 2 hours, but not longer than 5 days.
6. Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Grease a cookie sheet with cooking spray, and place chilled dough balls of 2 inches apart. Bake for about 10 minutes or until the tops and edges are hardened. The cookies may appear slightly undercooked and gooey in the middle, but because of overbaking...
Mutual respect helps Bryce Petty, Seth Russell avoid QB controversy

By Jeffrey Swindoll
Sports Writer

Senior quarterback Bryce Petty is expected to play after sitting out last Saturday's game against North Western State.

It would not be the first time two capable quarterbacks played for the same team and were forced to compete for playing time. Take Alex Smith and Colin Kaepernick from a couple of years ago, for example. Smith had been the quarterback for the San Francisco 49ers, while Kaepernick was battling through some stuff the entire season.

There can be multiple running backs and receivers, but there is only one quarterback on the field. Petty has been leading the team all season. "I've just been trying to learn from him," Russell said. "He is really good. He said he is really good." Petty said he accepted his opportunity as the starter with humility and understands that Petty had been patient in his starting role. He plans to approach his career in the same way Petty did.

"I told [Petty] 'I'll support him, even when he's gone and in the league and he said he's going to support me, keeping me level-minded," Russell said. Petty has been hungry for this chance to be the starting quarterback for the team. The injury to start the season threw off the rhythm a little bit, but Petty still has high expectations that he says are bigger than anyone else probably perceives in a chance of achieving.

"I want to get back, there, and that is the way he is, too," coach Art Briles said. "He is a winner, a fighter and a doggone good football player. If there is any way he can get on the field at Buffalo he will be on the field at Buffalo.

"The camaraderie between Russ-ell and Petty was noticeable on the sideline of the Northwestern State game. Petty was supportive and helping Russell learn the ropes after each offensive series.

Both respect the roles each other plays on this Bears team. They individual success is less important than the team's success this season.

Briles expects Petty to play; other starters still in doubt

A pack of Bears will return to the field on Friday in Buffalo, N.Y. As No. 8 Baylor plays Buffalo in its first road game of the year, senior quarterback Bryce Petty is expected to play after sitting out last Saturday's game against Northwestern State.

"He is really good," he said. "But my attitude is, you're not playing and that is a big difference," head coach Art Briles said. Petty suffered from two cracked vertebrae in his lower back during the season opener against SMU on Aug. 31. Although he only played in the first half, Petty included 101 passing yards and threw for two touchdowns. He also rushed for 31 yards and scored a touchdown in Baylor's 45-0 shutout over the Mustangs.

"You look at a big shot to the back. I was looking through some stuff on the first half, first couple of weeks when we flexed and didn't get it enough as I wanted to, so a lot of things stumbled off of that," Petty said. "I just get to the point where it was hard to stand up." Petty's return to the starting lineup will put sophomore quarterback Seth Russell back in a second-string position. Russell made his first career start on Saturday and joined 10 pass attempts and threw for 77 yards. With Russell in the starting lineup, Petty will be on the field at Buffalo. "I told [Petty] 'I'll support him, even when he's gone and in the league and he said he's going to support me, keeping me level-minded," Russell said. Petty has been hungry for this chance to be the starting quarterback for the team. The injury to start the season threw off the rhythm a little bit, but Petty still has high expectations that he says are bigger than anyone else probably perceives in a chance of achieving.

"I want to get back there, and that is the way he is," coach Art Briles said. "He is a winner, a fighter and a doggone good football player. If there is any way he can get on the field at Buffalo he will be on the field at Buffalo.

"The camaraderie between Russell and Petty was noticeable on the sideline of the Northwestern State game. Petty was supportive and helping Russell learn the ropes after each offensive series.

Both respect the roles each other plays on this Bears team. They individual success is less important than the team's success this season.