Design students get experience, build ‘parklet’

By Elizabeth Stratmann
Staff Writer

Over the past six weeks, 15 Baylor students have worked to design a project that has the potential to become part of the Baylor game day experience for years to come. The “parklet” is a 35-foot long seating area that’s mostly asphalt and able to be transformed into an oasis in the middle of downtown Waco. It will consist of tables and benches meant to provide seating and a common gathering space.

“This is a lot of growth happening here right now,” said Pamela Joana Tavares, who was also one of the studio design students assigned to the project. “Our parklet is made to show Kansas and to bring college students over who have only a connection to Baylor and not the city as much.”

This King, family and consumer science student, said she came up with the idea while sitting at Do-It coffee shop one day. She overheard a discussion by members of the Waco Downtown Development Corp. talking about the need for an attraction to the area on game days.

“I heard them mentioning a few things that they weren’t sure what to do with,” King said. “So I walked up to their table and said ‘I think we could do this’.”

King said she knew this would be a good opportunity for hands-on experience for her students. “This is the kind of thing we should be doing for our students to see a project from the beginning and see it through to fruition,” she said. “Most of the time it’s a stepping stone for our students to get to see a project from the beginning and see it through to fruition.”

King said the area is perfect for a parklet because of its location near the Baylor campus and its proximity to Downtown Waco like Dickson, the Baylor building the courthouse and the Waco Plaza.

“We’re right in the middle of a lot of different things here,” King said. “There’s not a great outdoor space to come and sit in at this side of the town. We wanted to make this an area that’s really walkable and be able to enjoy the live music in the middle of it.”

The parklet will remain at its current location for the game this weekend and will be subsequently evaluated by the city’s engineering department to determine if it can become a semi-permanent structure. “It’s definitely going to be up during the game,” King said.

The parklet will be part of the Baylor Lariat’s Parklet, page 4

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, but a new club on campus is fighting to raise money toward the cause.

Football senior Brooke Byers, president of the club, started Bears Against Breast Cancer this semester after she discovered the Susan G. Komen Central Texas office needed volunteers to help with fundraising initiatives for the club.

“Because the executive director of Susan G. Komen Central Texas wanted someone to start a group on campus that could raise money and find new volunteers for her office,” Byers said. “I jumped at the opportunity.”

Pirrello, a sophomore from Austin, found out about the club last month and came to her club meeting to see what it was all about.

UN chief says 20 times more aid is needed in West Africa

By Connie Cusack
Associate Press

WASHINGTON — The presence of three Ebola-stricken African nations made urgent pleas by African leaders Thursday and representatives of nations gathered for financial meetings promised more help.

The United Nations Security Council has expressed “grave concern” over the spread of the deadly disease. "It is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "This is an unforgiving disease that can’t be kept up." Kenya was one of three Ebola-stricken nations that asked for help: "We need help," President Uhuru Kenyatta said. "We need a lot more help." The disease's spread to the United States means that the country needs "grande menace" to fight the outbreak.

"The United Nations Security Council has repeatedly called for the strengthening of the international and regional health systems to prevent future outbreaks of the disease. We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

"This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

The disease has caused over 3,000 deaths in Africa and over 100 deaths in the United States. Ban said that the country needs "grande menace" to fight the outbreak. "We need help," President Uhuru Kenyatta said. "We need a lot more help." The disease's spread to the United States means that the country needs "grande menace" to fight the outbreak.

"The United Nations Security Council has repeatedly called for the strengthening of the international and regional health systems to prevent future outbreaks of the disease. We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

"This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

"The United Nations Security Council has repeatedly called for the strengthening of the international and regional health systems to prevent future outbreaks of the disease. We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

"This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

"The United Nations Security Council has repeatedly called for the strengthening of the international and regional health systems to prevent future outbreaks of the disease. We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said. "This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said. "This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said. "This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.

"The United Nations Security Council has repeatedly called for the strengthening of the international and regional health systems to prevent future outbreaks of the disease. We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said. "This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said. "This is not a disease of Africa," Ban said. "It is a disease of the whole world." The UN will continue to work with the United States and other countries to ensure that the necessary resources are available to help those affected by the outbreak. "We need to respond with international aid to see things improve," Ban said.
Snyder should change the Redskins team name

When it comes to U.S. history, there aren’t many groups that have had it as bad as Native Americans. From an unrecorded start to an unrecorded genocide and the Trail of Tears, it was all pretty much Donna’s for Native Americans after the discovery of America. So when an opportunity comes around in modern day to give them even a small moral victory, it is a little bit cloudy why wouldn’t we let them have it. What could possibly be more important than compensating for the wrongs that have been done to Native Americans?

Oh, sorry, Native Americans. This is going to be a tough one.

As Washington Redskins fans, I love wearing my team colors and logos. But instead of getting complaints about wearing my team colors and logos, I get support from my fellow fans in the neighborhood. It’s the same situation. The No. 1 thing I got asked about is the team name.

It’s a difficult question, but it’s one that really needs to be addressed.

Before I get too much credit for being culturally sensitive or progressive, let me say my stance on this.

From AIDS

I mean neither. Why he meant and what he explained further was that the voice originated in Africa, like AIDS, and if people who do drugs are not treated properly, the virus may have the potential to spread in a similar fashion.

That is not as alarming because when the information is utilized as a whole, it provides a specifically scientiﬁc explanation of the virus. However, the viral quote alone doesn’t paint an accurate picture.

According to the World Health Organization, this largest outbreak of Ebola in history has claimed the lives of 3,860 people. That includes people from Guinea, Liberia, Nigeria, Sierra Leone and the United States.

AIDS kills more than 1.4 million in 2012 alone while 33.5 million continued to live with the disease around the world. AIDS and Ebola are not yet comparable.

So when considering where to look for information about a virus that some fear might become a global epidemic, that sense that a virus is similar to something else is understandable. However, I truly like having Native American imagery and I will be happy. But, please, just don’t make it too easy.

When it comes to Native American imagery in sports, I think the gold standard is Florida State University. The Seminoles have made multiple public statements about how they are proud to share their ancestral imagery with the university. They even have an entire section of their stadium dedicated to Native Americans.

So when it comes to Snyder, Redskins name supporters or even some Native Americans don’t think that it’s derogatory. A lot of people do, and that puts me in an awkward position. Support my team, I worry about the perception I project. I enjoy supporting my football team, but I don’t want a bigot and I don’t want anyone to think I’m one of them.

That’s where the real problem comes: people will easily think that I should just be myself and not worry what other people think and that some people are just too sensitive. However, I only agree with Snyder appearing as a bigot is part of being racist. Also, it doesn’t matter if I think the name derogatory or not, because it’s not my way to offend other people. Or, I am a white male who am I, or someone else, to tell a Native American how they should feel about the Redskins? It doesn’t matter what the intent or historically

People searching for information about a virus that some fear might become a global epidemic, that sense that a virus is similar to something else is understandable. However, I truly like having Native American imagery and I will be happy. But, please, just don’t make it too easy.

When it comes to Native American imagery in sports, I think the gold standard is Florida State University. The Seminoles have made multiple public statements about how they are proud to share their ancestral imagery with the university. They even have an entire section of their stadium dedicated to Native Americans.

So when it comes to Snyder, Redskins name supporters or even some Native Americans don’t think that it’s derogatory. A lot of people do, and that puts me in an awkward position. Support my team, I worry about the perception I project. I enjoy supporting my football team, but I don’t want a bigot and I don’t want anyone to think I’m one of them.

That’s where the real problem comes: people will easily think that I should just be myself and not worry what other people think and that some people are just too sensitive. However, I only agree with Snyder appearing as a bigot is part of being racist. Also, it doesn’t matter if I think the name derogatory or not, because it’s not my way to offend other people. Or, I am a white male who am I, or someone else, to tell a Native American how they should feel about the Redskins? It doesn’t matter what the intent or historically

People searching for information about a virus that some fear might become a global epidemic, that sense that a virus is similar to something else is understandable. However, I truly like having Native American imagery and I will be happy. But, please, just don’t make it too easy.

When it comes to Native American imagery in sports, I think the gold standard is Florida State University. The Seminoles have made multiple public statements about how they are proud to share their ancestral imagery with the university. They even have an entire section of their stadium dedicated to Native Americans.

So when it comes to Snyder, Redskins name supporters or even some Native Americans don’t think that it’s derogatory. A lot of people do, and that puts me in an awkward position. Support my team, I worry about the perception I project. I enjoy supporting my football team, but I don’t want a bigot and I don’t want anyone to think I’m one of them.

That’s where the real problem comes: people will easily think that I should just be myself and not worry what other people think and that some people are just too sensitive. However, I only agree with Snyder appearing as a bigot is part of being racist. Also, it doesn’t matter if I think the name derogatory or not, because it’s not my way to offend other people. Or, I am a white male who am I, or someone else, to tell a Native American how they should feel about the Redskins? It doesn’t matter what the intent or historically

People searching for information about a virus that some fear might become a global epidemic, that sense that a virus is similar to something else is understandable. However, I truly like having Native American imagery and I will be happy. But, please, just don’t make it too easy.

When it comes to Native American imagery in sports, I think the gold standard is Florida State University. The Seminoles have made multiple public statements about how they are proud to share their ancestral imagery with the university. They even have an entire section of their stadium dedicated to Native Americans.

So when it comes to Snyder, Redskins name supporters or even some Native Americans don’t think that it’s derogatory. A lot of people do, and that puts me in an awkward position. Support my team, I worry about the perception I project. I enjoy supporting my football team, but I don’t want a bigot and I don’t want anyone to think I’m one of them.

That’s where the real problem comes: people will easily think that I should just be myself and not worry what other people think and that some people are just too sensitive. However, I only agree with Snyder appearing as a bigot is part of being racist. Also, it doesn’t matter if I think the name derogatory or not, because it’s not my way to offend other people. Or, I am a white male who am I, or someone else, to tell a Native American how they should feel about the Redskins? It doesn’t matter what the intent or historically
Student business focuses on spirituality, giving

When the Clothes Brothers started their clothing company a year ago, they knew profit-maximization would not be their main focus.

The Clothes Brothers, founded by Blodgett senior Clary Wells and her parents, Cali and Andy Chon, is a for-profit business with a nonprofit mentality.

More than stressing a financial bottom line, the Clothes Brothers emphasize relationships and serving people.

On Tuesday they held their first Night of Worship in the home of the company’s business partner, senior Andy Chon. The event was held in the home of the founders, Flower Mound senior Chris Ulrich and his mother, Val, who wore a nightgown and were ready to be moved to make room for all the attendees.

“When we hired Kevin and everyone, ‘Well, we told them ‘This is not an Amer- ican business. We’re all in together.’ Everyone is helping more toward the goal and the mission,” Wells said.

People have recently formed a partnership with St. Orsola Villas. Wells said he hopes they can do even more in the com- ing year.

Even though he is graduating in May, a year early, he plans to stay in Waco to continue building the Clothes Brothers.

“Everyone is helping move towards the goal,” he added. “It’s amazing.”

The company was founded on February 18, 2014, with the mission to bring alcohol awareness to the Baylor community.

The 5K will be at the end of the Night of Worship on Tuesday, Oct. 7, and is open to anyone, and the college ministry of the First Baptist Church of Wood- land helped lead the Night of Wor- ship.

Wells said more people than they had originally anticipated came, so they moved indoors into a building in order to make room.

“We kind of had a holistic model of wanting to help people—employees, clients, and those who are in need,” Wells said. “We want to do this in a spiritual way, in a physical way with the shirts, neces- sary ways for our employees and through discipleship.”

The company was founded on Oct. 1, 2014, with a mission to serve people by providing shirts to those in need. For every shirt purchased, the company gives one away.

“We sold six to 12 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-part- ners. The company has since hired eight employees.

“Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-part- ners. The company has since hired eight employees.

“Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-part- ners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees.

“Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners. By March they had donated to two-partners. The company has since hired eight employees. Wells said for 120 shirts have been given out. When the company started, there were four partners.

“I’m most excited to see it if something that students will be interested in,” Patterson said. “You don’t have to be a hardcore runner to participate. We want as many people as possible to come.”

“The event has been held in the home of the founders, Flower Mound senior Chris Ulrich and his mother, Val, who wore a nightgown and were ready to be moved to make room.”

To find out more about Rethink Your Drink, email the event contact, Carlye ThornTen at Meg.Patterson@baylor.edu.
League City sophomore Casey Dervay cheers on the Bears at Floyd Casey Stadium.

"I think that’s one of the things that really import ant about being Against Breast Cancer," Perrilla said. "It takes what was a really difficult time and negative experience in people’s lives and turn it into making that easier for other people.

Brown said the club aims to raise awareness and money on a greater scale than yearly meet ing with members. Anyone is wel come to join the club and no dues are required. Because other stu dents also have family members or family friends who have had breast cancer, instead in the club is crackers, Brown said.

"There aren’t regular opportunities to volunteer for breast cancer and work out, but fighting cancer is something that is important to students at Baylor," Perrilla said. "Against Breast Cancer gives students a chance to plan and participate in events that engage the Baylor community while raising money and awareness." For those interested in joining Bears Against Breast Cancer, email Brooks_Byers@baylor.edu.

La Marque junior Kristina Scott works with children who stole part of a bench Wednesday at the parklet.

"Our captains will quickly call the emergency number if it is ever needed," she said. "It’s a really special event to be a part of it, and I’ve just had fun with the things she has learned."

"I want to learn more about its difficulties. Knowing all of the people behind the scenes is the best way to stop fear that Ebola centers are places of people go to die. The U.N. and individual coun ties have been sickened or killed in these three countries has been the easiest outbreaks, such as the SARS crisis, showed that positive response is a must for other nations."

"I think that it’s one of the things that’s really important about bears against breast cancer," Perrilla said. "I want to do something with a global perspective," she added. "I don’t know how directly it’s going to impact the world, but I want to see it become global."
Bringing back the scrunchie

Scrubies, a popular 90’s hair accessory, are making a comeback, thanks to a now 91-year-old woman who live-streamed the results of a scrunchie search to her followers.

"No hair accessories company, have found in its consumer research "We really do go back, too," says Somer McArthur, "and we’re happy for it."

McArthur says the scarves are in the same fashion trend as the 1980s, when scrunchies were popular. "It’s just a fun way to wear something that’s been around for a long time, " says McArthur. "We love it because it’s unique and it’s fun to wear."
Behind enemy lines
Five notes about TCU
By Evon Yearwood
1. In the 2011 game, TCU upset the fourth-ranked Oklahoma Sooners 38-33. The Horned Frogs jumped 16 in the AP Top 25 poll to No. 25 up to No. 8. The high-octane TCU offense ran for 473 yards and averaged 8.9 yards per carry on the way to the upset victory.
2. In that same season, TCU went on to defeat the Sooners again later in the year, 23-7, on the road. The Sooners had held TCU to 14 points earlier in the season.
3. The Sooners have scored at least 31 points in each of the last five contests against TCU. The last five contests have all been decided by single-digit spreads, and the Horned Frogs have won three of the last five.
4. This is a very important part of TCU’s success has been its defense. TCU ranks seventh nationally in forced turnovers with 18.
5. In the fourth quarter last week against Oklahoma, TCU’s defense stopped Oklahoma three times when the Sooners had the ball inside the 20-yard line. TCU’s 18-yard line, forcing Oklahoma to punt four times and knock off three of Oklahoma’s final possessions on field goals.

Baylor ready for battle with TCU
By Cory Stroupe
Saturday night will get a whole lot more interesting.

Three weeks ago, Saturday’s Big 12 game against No. 11 Baylor and No. 9 Texas meet in Waco with more than just the Big 12 standings at stake. After an overtime loss to Oklahoma State and a loss to Texas last week, No. 9 Baylor is looking to tie the game up and head even on a top 25 matchup. With all the energy leading into the game, the national spotlight will be on the McLane Stadium.

Baylor (9-1, 5-0) plays in its Big 12 home opener against the Horned Frogs (10-1, 7-0) on Saturday at noon.

The Bears have more than enough to prove on the field this week. After being the top-ranked team in the nation for several weeks, the Bears are now ranked No. 9 in the country.

“I think it’s a great football environment for us to play in, and I’m excited to be back on the Bragg Stadium,” Bears head coach Art Briles said.

Once the Bears take the field, the game will be a top 25 contest, with TCU ranked No. 8 in the country.

Briles admitted that the Bears have focused on the recent losses, and are now looking to the challenges ahead.

“I think it’s a great football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve been working on the things that we need to correct, and we’ve been working hard to do that.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be big game,” junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.

“It’s going to be a big game, junior safety Trevin Elliott said. “We need to show we’re ready to play in this environment.

“A really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears want to show they can compete with the top teams in the nation, and are looking to prove themselves against a top 10 team.

“I think it’s a really good football environment for us to play in,” Briles said. “We’ve got a lot of work to do, but we’ve got to get it done, and we’ve got to get it done quickly.

The Bears have a tough task ahead of them, as they will face a top 10 team in the Horned Frogs. TCU has won five straight games and is coming off a 49-21 decision to TCU.
The Baylor Lariat
FRIDAY | OCTOBER 10, 2014

FRIDAY | OCTOBER 10, 2014
The Baylor Lariat

FRIDAY | OCTOBER 10, 2014
The Baylor Lariat

Jones wins Big 12 honor
Senior golfer Kyle Jones was named Men’s Golfer of the Month for September by the Big 12 on Thursday. Jones led Baylor to wins in the Gopher Invitational and the Price/Invitational in September. Over those two tournaments, Baylor moved up from unranked to No. 8 in the nation, best in the Big 12.

Prosecution: Peterson used drugs
By Juan Lozano

In a court motion, the Montgomery County District Attorney’s Office said Peterson allegedly violated his probation after telling a worker conducting a background check that he had "smoked a little weed" while on bond.

The district attorney's office wrote: "The defendant has smoked marijuana while on bond, " the district attorney’s office said. Peterson has said his client intends to plead not guilty.

"During his court appearance on October 2, the district attorney's office wrote: "the tentative trial date of Dec. 1. But he added that might not hold if he is not resolved. Vikings coach Mike Zimmer said he had to suspend him as a child growing up in East Texas. He faces up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted.

He faces up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted.

In an email, Phil Grant, the team's executive director, said the team had to suspend him as a child growing up in East Texas. He faces up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine if convicted.

In an email, Phil Grant, the team's executive director, said:"Among the questions thatGenerating articles...
SHOCK LINWOOD
Sophomore Running Back
Baylor Football 2014

Skye Duncan | Lariat Photographer