Netflix: Full stream ahead

By Amanda Yarger

The instant media streaming service Netflix checked analysts when it released its fourth quarter report this week.

The company showed 72 cents per share profits in the official report – almost 20 cents per share profits in the official report this week.

Service Netflix shocked analysts with a focus in film and digital media. "People aren't watching television on their televisions anymore," he said. "It's an evolution. It's at a six billion. In addition, she also has a Netflix subscription that allows her more flexibility with her media consumption.

"If I want to stop right in the middle of a show I can," she said. "I can leave and come back to it."

By Rachel Leland

Previously a mess hall cook for the U.S. Navy, Doris "Dorie" Miller on Dec. 7, 1941, on the USS West Virginia, Miller received the Navy Cross, Waco resident, to be recognized for his heroism during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

As he takes part in the traditional Arda dance on March 23, 2010, former King Abdullah, right, holds his sword and even a Waco YMCA also bear his name. Waco native, to be recognized for his service in World War II. The bill was introduced to the House by Rep. Bill Flores, R-Texas, who was born in Waco, to be recognized for his military service and bravery during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

By Rachel Leland

Previously a mess hall cook for the U.S. Navy, Doris "Dorie" Miller on Dec. 7, 1941, on the USS West Virginia, Miller received the Navy Cross, Waco resident, to be recognized for his heroism during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

As he takes part in the traditional Arda dance on March 23, 2010, former King Abdullah, right, holds his sword and even a Waco YMCA also bear his name. Waco native, to be recognized for his service in World War II. The bill was introduced to the House by Rep. Bill Flores, R-Texas, who was born in Waco, to be recognized for his military service and bravery during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

By Rachel Leland

Previously a mess hall cook for the U.S. Navy, Doris "Dorie" Miller on Dec. 7, 1941, on the USS West Virginia, Miller received the Navy Cross, Waco resident, to be recognized for his heroism during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

As he takes part in the traditional Arda dance on March 23, 2010, former King Abdullah, right, holds his sword and even a Waco YMCA also bear his name. Waco native, to be recognized for his service in World War II. The bill was introduced to the House by Rep. Bill Flores, R-Texas, who was born in Waco, to be recognized for his military service and bravery during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

By Rachel Leland

Previously a mess hall cook for the U.S. Navy, Doris "Dorie" Miller on Dec. 7, 1941, on the USS West Virginia, Miller received the Navy Cross, Waco resident, to be recognized for his heroism during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.

As he takes part in the traditional Arda dance on March 23, 2010, former King Abdullah, right, holds his sword and even a Waco YMCA also bear his name. Waco native, to be recognized for his service in World War II. The bill was introduced to the House by Rep. Bill Flores, R-Texas, who was born in Waco, to be recognized for his military service and bravery during the Pearl Harbor attack. President Barack Obama on March 23, 2010.
Editorial
Don’t give up grades to perform in Sing

The Baylor Lariat.

Don’t hold yourself hostage with a major you despise

The college years are one of the most important — if not the most important — points in our lives. This change, for many students, can be disruptive. As someone who has been in the shoes of a student, I can attest to the overwhelming number of new experiences we must navigate and manage, the decisions that the college makes in college determines the great part of our lives. We can do ourselves a favor by choosing a major that is right for us.

Many students who come to Baylor change their major once or twice during their time here. The fact that our college years go by far too quickly makes it easier to change our major. It is important to make sure that you change your major if you are not happy with it, but it is also important to make sure that you choose something that you will enjoy. If you are not happy with your major, you can always change it later. It is important to choose a major that you will enjoy.

I am a senior journalism major at Baylor University. As someone who has been in the shoes of a student, I can attest to the overwhelming number of new experiences we must navigate and manage, the decisions that the college makes in college determines the great part of our lives. We can do ourselves a favor by choosing a major that is right for us.

Many students who come to Baylor change their major once or twice during their time here. The fact that our college years go by far too quickly makes it easier to change our major. It is important to make sure that you change your major if you are not happy with it, but it is also important to make sure that you choose something that you will enjoy. If you are not happy with your major, you can always change it later. It is important to choose a major that you will enjoy.

I am a senior journalism major at Baylor University. As someone who has been in the shoes of a student, I can attest to the overwhelming number of new experiences we must navigate and manage, the decisions that the college makes in college determines the great part of our lives. We can do ourselves a favor by choosing a major that is right for us.
One dose, then surgery: A new way to test brain tumor drugs

MARTIN S. SANAI
Associated Press

Lori Simons took the bright orange pill at 3 a.m. Eight hours later, doctors would cut her open and remove her brain tumor.

“We've had an endless string of failures” to find better ones, Sanai said.

Time is everything for people like Simons. "There are many other drugs to be studied in the years ahead," Sanai said.

His study is for people whose cancer came back. Doctors take a stored sample from the original tumor to see if its growth is driven by any gene or pathways targeted by one of the experimental drugs.

If, they give it a single dose of the new drug before surgery to remove the tumor.

Then, the tumor tissue is examined under a microscope to see if the drug had its intended effect on the genes of interest.

So far, the study has tested one drug from Astrogenesis PLC on four patients. Another drug, from Novartis, will be added soon.

“We’re trying to develop a portfolio of these so there are many possible drugs available for new patients under a single “umbrella” study,” Sanai said.

It is called a “phase zero” clinical trial because it comes before the usual three-phase experiments to determine a drug’s safety, ideal dose and effectiveness.

If it’s going to fail, you want to fail early and fail fast before you put thousands of patients into “randomized trials,” Doroshow said.

The experimental drug did not appear to help Simons, a 55-year-old former pharmacist from Gold Canyon, an hour’s drive east of Phoenix. Physicians decided to try an older drug, Temodar, after her surgery in late October.

"I will never be able to laugh with people," Welter said. "But I am able to laugh at people."

"Comedy provides a way to talk about things that remain difficult to understand," Perry said during his discussion on navigating how to react to culturally and racially sensitive jokes.

"Comedy is a way to talk about things that remain difficult to understand," Perry said during his discussion on navigating how to react to culturally and racially sensitive jokes.

"Comedy allows us to speak about things we would not be able to speak about," Perry said during his discussion on navigating how to react to culturally and racially sensitive jokes.

"Comedy is a way to talk about things that remain difficult to understand," Perry said during his discussion on navigating how to react to culturally and racially sensitive jokes.

"Comedy is a way to talk about things that remain difficult to understand," Perry said during his discussion on navigating how to react to culturally and racially sensitive jokes.
Yemen's president, prime minister resign amid siege

Heads of state have signalled a change of political direction in Yemen. The country's president and prime minister have both resigned in response to calls to end ongoing military conflict. The move is seen as a significant step towards political stability in the region.

The resignation of President Abdrabbuh Mansour Hadi and Prime Minister Khaled Bahah comes after weeks of protests and protests calling for a return to civilian rule. The country has been in political turmoil since the ousting of former President Ali Abdullah Saleh in 2012, with multiple factions vying for control.

The resignation is expected to pave the way for a new political transition, though it remains to be seen how this will play out. The country has a history of political instability, with previous attempts at political reform often failing.

The resignation comes amid ongoing military conflict, with the Houthis controlling large parts of the country. The conflict has led to a humanitarian crisis, with millions of Yemenis in need of aid.

The resignation has been welcomed by some, including the United Nations, which has called it an important step towards ending the conflict. However, some have raised concerns about the intentions of the new leaders, with fears that they may continue the same policies as their predecessors.

The resignation is also seen as an opportunity for a fresh start, with a chance to address the root causes of the conflict, including resources, security, and political stability. The international community is expected to play a role in supporting the new leadership, with hopes of seeing a return to peace and stability in Yemen.

Yemen is a country located in the Arabian Peninsula, with a population of over 27 million. It has been characterized by political instability, conflict, and poverty.

The move comes as the country faces a humanitarian crisis, with millions of Yemenis in need of aid due to ongoing conflict. The situation has sparked international concern, with calls for a political solution to end the conflict.

The resignation is expected to be followed by new elections, with the hope of establishing a government that can represent the interests of all Yemenis. The international community is expected to play a role in supporting the new government, with hopes of seeing a return to peace and stability in Yemen.

The resignation is seen as a significant step towards political stability in Yemen, with the country facing a humanitarian crisis and ongoing conflict.
Answers at www.baylorlariat.com

Dr. Alice Maitinem
Evansville

Mr. Pitt's early on-ups and over-the-top reductions are enough to make any Baylor student smile. The “Magic School Bus”
show has played from the TV screen to campus, thanks to a new exhibit at the Mayborn Museum. The museum is hosting a bilingual exhibit called The Magic School Bus
Kicks Up a Storm. The exhibit, which is guarded toward families, features a comic book, a weather center and a weather observatory stationed in the magic school bus.

Rebecca Tucker Nall, the muse-ous assistant director of communication, said the exhibit is drawing in both school tours and a large family crowd.

“We are always trying to look for exhibits that will appeal to our age groups,” Nall said. The exhibit bilingual and centered on helping kids learn more about the weather through a series of interactive activities. The most popular stations in the weather center, where kids can read torys, draw up a contour map and report the weather
The animals
show and reneduce outs in the exhibit, Nall said.

“I watched it with my little one as growing up and now I get to experience it with my kids,” Ms. Holson, a mother attending the push.

Nall said during the exhibit's three-month run, the Mayborn will host guest visitors such as a magician and local meteorologist.

Museum brings frizzled fun to BU campus

The Magic School Bus Kicks Up a Storm is on display through April 12 at the Mayborn Muse-mum. Tickets are $10 for adults and $5 for children 12 and under.

The Mayborn Museum opened the Magic School Bus Kicks Up a Storm exhibit Saturday. The attraction, which runs through April 12, features Ms. Frizzle storytime and interactive stations for children to help them learn about weather.

The Magic School Bus Kicks Up a Storm

Five immediate results of forming good exercise habits

When asked, people give lots of reasons for why they work out:
to gain more strength and endurance, manage weight and look better. These motivators – the modeler to get us off the couch, pause our sweat on does wonders for our health.

In economics, researches have found that when people are offered $50 now versus $100 a year later, most will opt for the instant reward. And for many of us, these are much more likely to convince us to head to the gym right away. And for many of us, those are much more likely to convince us to head to the gym right
away (or at least after finishing the article).

1. Boost your mood

You don't need an hour-long,
high-intensity workout to trigger a hormone. Just 20 minutes of jogging has been found to elevate mood – and surprisingly the intensity doesn't matter.

In fact, there's reason to believe that pushing yourself too hard or rushes the life in your mind so choose a workout you're comfortable with and ride it exclusively for hours.

2. Sleep like a baby

The secret to a better night’s
sleep.

By now, we all know that get-
ing in both school tours and a large
family crowd.

Moderate aerobic exercise (like running or cycling for 30 minutes)
can make us feel like we’ve recovered from the workout in a short time.

Research has found that mini-moments of exercise during the day can be just as beneficial for your confidence.
Researchers
in Norway found that children who exercised regularly showed an improved self-esteem in the short term after working out.

Other research has found that exercise leads to more
deep sleep, improved
restful sleep and increased brain function.

While the long-term benefits of breathing a workout are definitely worth the wait, there are also some
powerful perks you'll experience
right away.

And for many of us,
are much more likely to convince us to head to the gym right
away (or at least after finishing
the article).

1. Boost your mood

You don't need an hour-long,
high-intensity workout to trigger a
hormone. Just 20 minutes of jogging
has been found to elevate mood – and
surprisingly the intensity doesn't
matter.

In fact, there's reason to believe
that pushing yourself too hard
or rushes the life in your
mind so choose a workout you're
comfortable with and ride it
exclusively for hours.

2. Sleep like a baby

The secret to a better night’s
sleep.

By now, we all know that get-
ing in both school tours and a large
family crowd.

Moderate aerobic exercise (like
running or cycling for 30 minutes)
can make us feel like we’ve
recovered from the workout in a short time.

Research has found that mini-
moments of exercise during
the day can be just as
beneficial for your confidence.
Researchers
in Norway found that children who
exercised regularly showed an
improved self-esteem in the short
term after working out.

Other research has found that
exercise leads to more
deep sleep, improved
restful sleep and increased brain function.

While the long-term benefits of
breathing a workout are
definitely worth the wait, there are also some
powerful perks you'll experience
right away.

And for many of us,
are much more likely to convince us to head to the gym right
away (or at least after finishing
the article).

1. Boost your mood

You don't need an hour-long,
high-intensity workout to trigger a
hormone. Just 20 minutes of jogging
has been found to elevate mood – and
surprisingly the intensity doesn't
matter.

In fact, there's reason to believe
that pushing yourself too hard
or rushes the life in your
mind so choose a workout you're
comfortable with and ride it
exclusively for hours.

2. Sleep like a baby

The secret to a better night’s
sleep.

By now, we all know that get-
ing in both school tours and a large
family crowd.

Moderate aerobic exercise (like
running or cycling for 30 minutes)
can make us feel like we’ve
recovered from the workout in a short time.

Research has found that mini-
moments of exercise during
the day can be just as
beneficial for your confidence.
Researchers
in Norway found that children who
exercised regularly showed an
improved self-esteem in the short
term after working out.

Other research has found that
exercise leads to more
deep sleep, improved
restful sleep and increased brain function.

While the long-term benefits of
breathing a workout are
definitely worth the wait, there are also some
powerful perks you'll experience
right away.

And for many of us,
are much more likely to convince us to head to the gym right
away (or at least after finishing
the article).

1. Boost your mood

You don't need an hour-long,
high-intensity workout to trigger a
hormone. Just 20 minutes of jogging
has been found to elevate mood – and
surprisingly the intensity doesn't
matter.

In fact, there's reason to believe
that pushing yourself too hard
or rushes the life in your
mind so choose a workout you're
comfortable with and ride it
exclusively for hours.
No. 3 Baylor set to take on Kansas State Wildcats

By Jeffrey Swindoll

Sports Writer

Big 12 WBB: No. 3 Lady Bears and Oklahoma sit on top early

By Jenevieve Sezeno

Sports Writer

The Lady Bears are without a doubt the hottest team in the conference. Baylor is young, but has not stopped Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey and her team in the conference. Baylor is young, but that has not stopped Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey and her team in the conference. The Lady Bears have a perfect 11-0 record at home and have yet to lose a conference game. Baylor's defense is ranked 2nd in the country and has allowed just 56 points per game. The Lady Bears have won 16-straight games this season and are currently ranked in the top 5 in the country. The Lady Bears have a chance to prove that fact on Saturday against Kansas State at home.

Baylor Sports this Weekend

Women's Basketball

- vs. Drake/Miami
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 3 Virginia

Men's Tennis

- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Drake/Miami

Track and Field

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

Women's Tennis

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane

Field Hockey

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

The Lady Bears are without a doubt the hottest team in the conference. Baylor is young, but has not stopped Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey and her team in the conference. The Lady Bears have a perfect 11-0 record at home and have yet to lose a conference game. Baylor's defense is ranked 2nd in the country and has allowed just 56 points per game. The Lady Bears have won 16-straight games this season and are currently ranked in the top 5 in the country. The Lady Bears have a chance to prove that fact on Saturday against Kansas State at home.

Baylor Sports this Weekend

Women's Basketball

- vs. Drake/Miami
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 3 Virginia

Men's Tennis

- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Drake/Miami

Track and Field

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

Women's Tennis

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane

Field Hockey

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

The Lady Bears are without a doubt the hottest team in the conference. Baylor is young, but has not stopped Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey and her team in the conference. The Lady Bears have a perfect 11-0 record at home and have yet to lose a conference game. Baylor's defense is ranked 2nd in the country and has allowed just 56 points per game. The Lady Bears have won 16-straight games this season and are currently ranked in the top 5 in the country. The Lady Bears have a chance to prove that fact on Saturday against Kansas State at home.

Baylor Sports this Weekend

Women's Basketball

- vs. Drake/Miami
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 3 Virginia

Men's Tennis

- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Drake/Miami

Track and Field

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

Women's Tennis

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane

Field Hockey

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

The Lady Bears are without a doubt the hottest team in the conference. Baylor is young, but has not stopped Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey and her team in the conference. The Lady Bears have a perfect 11-0 record at home and have yet to lose a conference game. Baylor's defense is ranked 2nd in the country and has allowed just 56 points per game. The Lady Bears have won 16-straight games this season and are currently ranked in the top 5 in the country. The Lady Bears have a chance to prove that fact on Saturday against Kansas State at home.

Baylor Sports this Weekend

Women's Basketball

- vs. Drake/Miami
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 3 Virginia

Men's Tennis

- vs. Tulane
- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Drake/Miami

Track and Field

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

Women's Tennis

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane

Field Hockey

- vs. No. 5 Virginia
- vs. Tulane
- vs. Drake/Miami

The Lady Bears are without a doubt the hottest team in the conference. Baylor is young, but has not stopped Baylor head coach Kim Mulkey and her team in the conference. The Lady Bears have a perfect 11-0 record at home and have yet to lose a conference game. Baylor's defense is ranked 2nd in the country and has allowed just 56 points per game. The Lady Bears have won 16-straight games this season and are currently ranked in the top 5 in the country. The Lady Bears have a chance to prove that fact on Saturday against Kansas State at home.