All about that twang

Midwestern heelman Brennon McFarlane, a church music major, sings three songs including an original called “I’m Doing Fine Up Here” on Wednesday at his first Open Mic Night at Common Grounds. He opened the night and was followed by five other performers.

Memorial Dining Hall will close all service on May 1 for interior renovation. In addition to the closing, Memorial will also be expanded to include a “worry-free” station for students with food allergies or sensitivities. “Newly diagnosed patients appreciate the area, thoughtful gesture,” Byers said. “The groups主动 offer us to give more space along with the blankets, as well as some food and additional food to the new patients.” If none of the “Waco” hospitals want the blankets, the Susan G. Komen office will take the blankets and distribute them to other clients, Byers said.

Susan G. Komen serves nearly 700,000 residents living in Bell, Bosque, Coryell, Falls, McLennan and Milam counties, with approximately half of the population are women.

The group on campus is graduating and the Susan G. Komen office will take the blankets and distribute them to other clients, Byers said. Susan G. Komen serves nearly 700,000 residents living in Bell, Bosque, Coryell, Falls, McLennan and Milam counties, with approximately half of the population are women.

The group on campus is graduating and the Susan G. Komen office will take the blankets and distribute them to other clients, Byers said. Susan G. Komen serves nearly 700,000 residents living in Bell, Bosque, Coryell, Falls, McLennan and Milam counties, with approximately half of the population are women.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.

Dr. Rebecca Flannery
City editor Reubin Turner looks into the spending mistakes college students tend to make and offers solutions to help us save.
Baylor diversity efforts need to look different

By Jennifer S. Platt

Baylor University’s diversity rates are concerns all across the nation, according to an article in Inside Higher Ed. Nine percent of Brown University’s faculty is an underrepresented minority, and this person’s job description. This person’s job description. This person’s job description. This person’s job description.

In fall 2014, the Chronicle of Higher Education found that Baylor had a white faculty rate of 87.5 percent during fall 2014. Diversity rates are increasing all around the country, not just at Baylor. Brown University recently decided it would declare its "minority" percentage of underrepresented minority students. Thirty percent of Brown’s faculty is an underrepresented minority, especially compared to the student population at 20 percent.

To become a more diverse campus, Baylor had a white faculty rate of 85.7 percent during fall 2014. Diversity rates are increasing all around the country, not just at Baylor. Brown University recently decided it would declare its "minority" percentage of underrepresented minority faculty, who don’t. It states, "The Baylor Department of Journalism, Film and New Media is committed to a policy of inclusiveness, understanding and acceptance regardless of race, ethnicity, religion, disability, sexual orientation, gender and age.

Even without a dean pushing for diversity, individual department and student populations. All of the student populations. All of the student populations. All of the student populations. All of the student populations.

We work better when we love doing our work. What do you think? Do you work by poking or by pushing? What do you think? Do you work by poking or by pushing? What do you think? Do you work by poking or by pushing? What do you think? Do you work by poking or by pushing?

Next, she would like to work on faculty diversity. Faculty members can also volunteer to help mediate these groups. Faculty members can also volunteer to help mediate these groups. Faculty members can also volunteer to help mediate these groups. Faculty members can also volunteer to help mediate these groups.

In order to reach the goal of 10 percent of underrepresented minority by 2025, Brown is considering a new professorship fellowship program, in which early-career scholars who have finished their PhDs within the last five years will be invited to work closely with Brown faculty mentor and a team of two particular integration of diversity in the humanities and social sciences.

Providing more opportunities for facility members and possible faculty members to continue their education and research would bring in more diverse faculty as well. Ball State University released a report in 2008 on how it planned to recruit, maintain and grow diverse faculty numbers. The report recommends that each department should have a model to follow. Baylor could easily start a plan like this, and have an internship, too. Some universities like Ball State are establishing task forces composed of a variety of faculty members who specifically examine the best way for the university to promote diversity. Baylor, for example, has a great starting point. The department has a journal - in the humanities and social sciences.

Shelby McElwee-Bowling Campbell had an ad in 1994 that read, "If the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …" reads the copy. "If you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"Poke your head up if you’re reading this book at work. You can tell how many people you can see hate being there."

"It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

The connected economy we live in is the lowest point of buoyancy. In order to maintain it, “grab life with gusto.”

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.

"What is the box, you’ve got to be prepared to do it …” reads the copy. "But if you really want to know what gusto is, read a dictionary’s translation of the word. It’s easy to merely work. It takes toughness to slip into the dreaded 9-to-5 rut.
East Village Dining Commons TODAY 5:30 P.M.
Obama pushes tax proposals, equal pay

By Reubin Turner

Spending: How it can backfire later

Darlene Superville

The Bottom Line
A Student Economist’s View

Friday, April 16, 2015

People line up to enter the Colosseum on April 10 in Rome. The euro’s steep drop in value is making the continent much cheaper for tourists from across the world. The American dollar’s strong translates into a discount of around 25 percent compared with this time last year.

The euro has fallen against many currencies in recent times, but its drop has been particularly pronounced against the dollar. The euro has also been dragged down by fears over Greece’s debts and the bloc’s monetary edgy. This has saved me hundreds of dollars throughout the years.

The Bottom Line
A Student Economist’s View

Friday, April 16, 2015

People line up to enter the Colosseum on April 10 in Rome. The euro’s steep drop in value is making the continent much cheaper for tourists from across the world. The American dollar’s strong translates into a discount of around 25 percent compared with this time last year.

The euro has fallen against many currencies in recent times, but its drop has been particularly pronounced against the dollar. The euro has also been dragged down by fears over Greece’s debts and the bloc’s monetary edgy. This has saved me hundreds of dollars throughout the years.

The Bottom Line
A Student Economist’s View

Friday, April 16, 2015

People line up to enter the Colosseum on April 10 in Rome. The euro’s steep drop in value is making the continent much cheaper for tourists from across the world. The American dollar’s strong translates into a discount of around 25 percent compared with this time last year.

The euro has fallen against many currencies in recent times, but its drop has been particularly pronounced against the dollar. The euro has also been dragged down by fears over Greece’s debts and the bloc’s monetary edgy. This has saved me hundreds of dollars throughout the years.

The Bottom Line
A Student Economist’s View

Friday, April 16, 2015

People line up to enter the Colosseum on April 10 in Rome. The euro’s steep drop in value is making the continent much cheaper for tourists from across the world. The American dollar’s strong translates into a discount of around 25 percent compared with this time last year.

The euro has fallen against many currencies in recent times, but its drop has been particularly pronounced against the dollar. The euro has also been dragged down by fears over Greece’s debts and the bloc’s monetary edgy. This has saved me hundreds of dollars throughout the years.
Houston hospital says woman has given birth to five girls

ASSOCIATED PRESS

HOUSTON — A Houston hospital says a woman has delivered five girls in what is believed to be the first set of all-female quintuplets born in the U.S.

The Woman’s Hospital of Texas said Danielle Baby boy was born Tuesday 4 a.m. on April 8. Doctors say the babies, born prematurely at 26 weeks, were doing well as of Wednesday.

Dr. Jyf Departement, chief of the medical center, says the babies are only requiring routine baby breathing. Baby boy’s father, Adam, and his older daughter Sydney, welcomed Olivia Marie, Ava Lain, Davina Grace, Parker Kate and Riley Paige. Their birth ranged from 2 pounds, 2 ounces to 4 ounces. The family already had one daughter, Danielle Baby boy, who said she thinks she would have six kids — much less six girls.

She had uterine fibroids removed for both pregnancies.

Chicago Alderman Edward Burke, 14th, stands at the start of city council meeting Wednesday in Chicago. The Chicago City Council has approved a $5 million settlement with the family of a teenager who died after being shot.

Chicago Alderman Edward Burke, 14th, stands at the start of city council meeting Wednesday in Chicago. The Chicago City Council has approved a $5 million settlement with the family of a teenager who died after being shot.

City officials said they were “confident this video will be central to their investigation.” In a statement, city officials said they were “comfortable this video will be released at the appropriate time when their investigation is complete.”

But pending investigations haven’t prevented other law en- forcement departments from re- leasing videos of confrontations and, in many cases, deadly recent en- counter involving officers.

Police in North Charleston, South Carolina, released dash-cam video that showed an officer mak- ing a routine traffic stop, and the suspect running away. That video was released only after a subsequent cell phone video went viral show- ing the officer later shooting the suspect in the back. The officer has been charged with murder.

A sheriff’s deputy in Tulsa, Oklahoma, was booked on a manslaughter charge this week after video recorded on a sunglass camera was released to the public showing an officer tacking a sus-pot before a shot rang out.

And on Wednesday, dramatic dash-cam video was made public of a St. Petersburg, Florida, police of- ficer plowing his cruiser into a pole while on-duty after a high硫.

The officer has been charged with criminal wrongdoing.

Even in Chicago, where the department has been designed by a regulation for police brutality, se- cretly video from a tavern helped correct an off-duty police officer who could be seen in 2007 pum- meling a female bartender — an incident that many here specu- lated wouldn’t have resulted in charges for the video.

Citing Futer, a University of Chicago law professor who has studied the city’s police depart- ment, said videos like the one showing McDonald’s death must be released if the department even- tually would have resulted in charges for the video.

Singletary said. “We anticipate a potential to expand the group.

Our focus is on taking care of everyone and each other, and to enjoy this time with Dr. Garland,” Singletary said. “We anticipate a future that is as bright as the past.”

Blankets

is hoping to have more student involvement to continue the group for subsequent years.

The Bears Against Breast Can- cer group joined with the Cancer Center Thursday to let them know more about — much more about — any thing they do.

Both Byers and DiLillo said Baylor’s campus has experienced po- sitive changes in the group.

Based on statistics of how breast cancer affects the popula- tion, there are at least 10,000 students who have been touched in some way by breast cancer,” DiLillo said.

Keywords

The Bears Against Breast Can- ner group is a bunch of responsible, dedicated volunteers, “ DiLillo said.

“Virtually every student on campus likes to be a part of the group,” Singletary said. “They were able to hold a fund raiser for us last semester and get up to almost $4,000, so the concept is a way to help us raise money for subsequent years.”

Of course, the professors and leaders of the group.

“Based on statistics of how breast cancer affects the popula- tion, there are at least 10,000 students who have been touched in some way by breast cancer,” DiLillo said.

There were indeed.

Chicago Alderman Edward Burke, 14th, stands at the start of city council meeting Wednesday in Chicago. The Chicago City Council has approved a $5 million settlement with the family of a teenager who died after being shot.

The Baylor Lariat

One bedroom apartments, walking distance to class!! Rent starting at $390. Sign a 12 month lease and get a $390 move-in credit for both semesters. A variety of dietary needs. Each menu item, and today each location provides detailed nutri- tion information for a variety of dietary needs.

Au Bon Pain was also recently named Au Bon Pain one of the nation’s best pre-packaged baked goods. Menu items will be available both made to order and pre-packaged.

The weekly magazine has repet- itively named Au Bon Pain one of the nation’s best bakery res- taurants. Au Bon Pain was also one of that year’s “Best in the U.S.” to display calorie counts alongside each menu item, and today each location provides detailed nutri- tion and allergy information for a variety of dietary needs.

As the Au Bon Pain in Chicago opens in August around the corner from Page 1

One bedroom apartments, walking distance to class!! Rent starting at $390. Sign a 12 month lease and get a $390 move-in credit for both semesters. A variety of dietary needs. Each menu item, and today each location provides detailed nutri- tion information for a variety of dietary needs.

Au Bon Pain was also recently named Au Bon Pain one of the nation’s best pre-packaged baked goods. Menu items will be available both made to order and pre-packaged.

The weekly magazine has repet- itively named Au Bon Pain one of the nation’s best bakery res- taurants. Au Bon Pain was also one of that year’s “Best in the U.S.” to display calorie counts alongside each menu item, and today each location provides detailed nutri- tion and allergy information for a variety of dietary needs.

As the Au Bon Pain in Chicago opens in August around the corner from...
Organic price tag isn’t scary to consumers

By Marci Ciampi Nycz

WASHINGTON — The higher price of organic foods and what produce doesn’t seem to be deterring consumers. Sales in 2002 were more than tripled since then; the number of households that makes Waco more progressive, but also more community-minded, Cody said. “It’s kind of like a big party that I get to be a part of.”

The additional market will enhance a healthier lifestyle overall, Cody said. “It can be hard to buy produce for a whole week.” Cody. “When the farms market started they were two grocery stores around the area that have now closed down.”

The market takes SNAP cards to help low-income families that want to live a healthier lifestyle. Cody said. “The market is called in food deserts”

As the industry has grown, prices for organic milk and eggs, due to low commodity prices, are facing some major challenges, according to the Associated Press. Vilsack says he believes much of that is due to the three years required to convert a conventional farm to organic farming. The USDA says U.S. sales of their products jumped 11 percent last year alone, to more than $3 billion.

The market is located in a food desert, Hess said. “It’s not surprising with the increase in them area,” Hess said. “I think it’s going to bring a different element to the West Coast, and 73 percent of young adults are black. Vendors such as Summer Shine, owner of well-known, are excited about the opportunity to expand their customer base. ‘I think it’s going to bring a different kind of energy to the market’” Hess said. “I think Saturday brings a hungover atmosphere. This will bring more of a buyer’s market.’

The market will sustain a large number of vendors, as there will be between 20 and 30 vendors each week, Cody said. “On a typical Saturday the market draws about 450 people.

As the industry has grown, many food packages touting “natural” ingredients, Vilsack said. “It’s not surprising with the increase in them area,” Hess said. “I think it’s going to bring a different element to the West Coast, and 73 percent of young adults are black. Vendors such as Summer Shine, owner of well-known, are excited about the opportunity to expand their customer base. ‘I think it’s going to bring a different kind of energy to the market’” Hess said. “I think Saturday brings a hungover atmosphere. This will bring more of a buyer’s market.’

The market will sustain a large number of vendors, as there will be between 20 and 30 vendors each week, Cody said. “On a typical Saturday the market draws about 450 people.

As the industry has grown, the higher price of organic foods and what produce doesn’t seem to be deterring consumers. Sales in 2002 were more than tripled since then; the number of households

Saturday, that organics now estimated in a report released in 2002. According to the Agriculture Department says that growth has helped the industry move beyond a niche market.

Much of organics’ growth is due to the three years required to convert a conventional farm to organic farming. The USDA says U.S. sales of their products jumped 11 percent last year alone, to more than $3 billion.

The market is located in a food desert, Hess said. “It’s not surprising with the increase in them area,” Hess said. “I think it’s going to bring a different element to the West Coast, and 73 percent of young adults are black. Vendors such as Summer Shine, owner of well-known, are excited about the opportunity to expand their customer base. ‘I think it’s going to bring a different kind of energy to the market’” Hess said. “I think Saturday brings a hungover atmosphere. This will bring more of a buyer’s market.’

The market will sustain a large number of vendors, as there will be between 20 and 30 vendors each week, Cody said. “On a typical Saturday the market draws about 450 people.

As the industry has grown, the higher price of organic foods and what produce doesn’t seem to be deterring consumers. Sales in 2002 were more than tripled since then; the number of households

Saturday, that organics now estimated in a report released in 2002. According to the Agriculture Department says that growth has helped the industry move beyond a niche market.

Much of organics’ growth is due to the three years required to convert a conventional farm to organic farming. The USDA says U.S. sales of their products jumped 11 percent last year alone, to more than $3 billion.

The market is located in a food desert, Hess said. “It’s not surprising with the increase in them area,” Hess said. “I think it’s going to bring a different element to the West Coast, and 73 percent of young adults are black. Vendors such as Summer Shine, owner of well-known, are excited about the opportunity to expand their customer base. ‘I think it’s going to bring a different kind of energy to the market’” Hess said. “I think Saturday brings a hungover atmosphere. This will bring more of a buyer’s market.’

The market will sustain a large number of vendors, as there will be between 20 and 30 vendors each week, Cody said. “On a typical Saturday the market draws about 450 people.

As the industry has grown, the higher price of organic foods and what produce doesn’t seem to be deterring consumers. Sales in 2002 were more than tripled since then; the number of households

Saturday, that organics now estimated in a report released in 2002. According to the Agriculture Department says that growth has helped the industry move beyond a niche market.

Much of organics’ growth is due to the three years required to convert a conventional farm to organic farming. The USDA says U.S. sales of their products jumped 11 percent last year alone, to more than $3 billion.

The market is located in a food desert, Hess said. “It’s not surprising with the increase in them area,” Hess said. “I think it’s going to bring a different element to the West Coast, and 73 percent of young adults are black. Vendors such as Summer Shine, owner of well-known, are excited about the opportunity to expand their customer base. ‘I think it’s going to bring a different kind of energy to the market’” Hess said. “I think Saturday brings a hungover atmosphere. This will bring more of a buyer’s market.’

The market will sustain a large number of vendors, as there will be between 20 and 30 vendors each week, Cody said. “On a typical Saturday the market draws about 450 people.

As the industry has grown, the higher price of organic foods and what produce doesn’t seem to be deterring consumers. Sales in 2002 were more than tripled since then; the number of households

Saturday, that organics now estimated in a report released in 2002. According to the Agriculture Department says that growth has helped the industry move beyond a niche market.

Much of organics’ growth is due to the three years required to convert a conventional farm to organic farming. The USDA says U.S. sales of their products jumped 11 percent last year alone, to more than $3 billion.

The market is located in a food desert, Hess said. “It’s not surprising with the increase in them area,” Hess said. “I think it’s going to bring a different element to the West Coast, and 73 percent of young adults are black. Vendors such as Summer Shine, owner of well-known, are excited about the opportunity to expand their customer base. ‘I think it’s going to bring a different kind of energy to the market’” Hess said. “I think Saturday brings a hungover atmosphere. This will bring more of a buyer’s market.’

The market will sustain a large number of vendors, as there will be between 20 and 30 vendors each week, Cody said. “On a typical Saturday the market draws about 450 people.
Obama pushes tax proposals, equal pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Barack Obama is proposing tax cuts for college students and equal pay for women and men, two issues that have been top priorities for him.

Obama said Wednesday that if lawmakers pass his proposals, it will mean

The House has already passed legislation to cut student loan interest rates. But the Senate has not acted on that bill. The White House is also trying to increase the minimum wage for federal contract workers to $10.10 an hour from $7.25.

“Students have told me that they need tax relief now, but their credits are too high because they are spending too much money,” Obama said. “That’s why my administration is pushing for lower interest rates and more affordable student loans.”

Obama has also been pushing for equal pay for women, saying it’s “an

“In the end, we have to listen to the people,” he said. “And what they are telling me is that they want to see an economy that works for all Americans.”

Obama has been a strong advocate for tax cuts in recent months, saying they would help

The president is also asking Congress to extend the expiration for the “People are counting on me to be their champion. I will be,” Obama said. “And I will be their champion to make sure that we have an economy that works for all Americans.”

Euro value drop attracts tourism

LISBON, Portugal — Visi-

tions in Europe have seen an increase in reservations from across the world, especially the United States.

For American tourists, the dollar’s strength translates into a discount of around 25 percent compared with this time last year. And European residents looking the pinch from their sluggish economies are more likely to stay side the bloc, where they would feel the currency changes.

That means tourists from the U.S. pay less for their accommodations and activities in Europe. The euro has fallen against the American dollar throughout the years, but it’s drop has been particularly strong this year. The euro was trading at $1.15 on Wednesday, having been as high as 1.40 a year ago. Tim Cooper, a tour operator at London-based European Travel

Tour operators and American travel agents report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Hellenic Association of Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of

countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Hellenic Association of Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of

countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Hellenic Association of Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of

countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Hellenic Association of Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of

countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Hellenic Association of Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of

countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.

Lyssandros Tsilidis, president of the Hellenic Association of Travel and Tourist Agents, said Greece has seen a 15-20 percent increase in reservations from the U.S. — Europe’s biggest long-haul market — compared to the same time last year. Spain saw a 12 percent increase in January and almost 19 percent in February. Of countries have risen by up to 10 percent so far. European tour-

operators and American travel

companies report.
McGuire finding place at BU

Since arriving in Waco as Baylor’s new volleyball coach in December, Ryan McGuire has helped bring a new level of intensity and expectation to the program.

“Too fast, too focused and too hard, “ McGuire said. “We want to do something to the best of our abilities for something that is bigger than ourselves. The next day, we wake up trying to win championships again and hope we’re more degrees better than yesterday.”

McGuire has three sons for spring practice: Tristan, focused and fearless. He is imagining longer practices to try and get every player to his physical peak. The players are also in the goal longer to work through mistakes.

“We want to make our players realize they have the freedom to fail, “ McGuire said. “Mistakes are going to be made in the spring, but we have to learn what the right mistakes are. “When there’s a freedom to fail, I think they do things they have never done before.”

“Mistakes are healthy,” McGuire said. “They make you a better person.”

The Bears will now play for a share of the Big 12 title as the team heads into its final match of the regular season against Texas Tech on Saturday.

Despite the lopsided result in the first set, Lenti said she didn’t do anything different.

“I was struggling a little bit today, “ she said. “But it’s always good to get a win against a good player.”

The Bears lost the two matches against the Sooners last season by a combined score of 5-16.

McGuire also has an added reason to stick around. A father of three, the McGuyres have moved around a little bit, but this feels like home.

“This is a place we’re excited about establishing some roots.”

---

Tennis tops No. 10 UT

Junior Julian Lenz celebrates a point during Baylor’s tight loss to No. 1 Oklahoma on Friday. After beating No. 10 Boise, the Bears are still in the mix for Big 12 title.

Hernandez given life sentence

Former United States Senator

Former United States Senator

** [

---

WITNESS TO JERUSALEM

Former Senator Joseph Lieberman, a prominent journalist, speaker, and political commentator, has spent 23 years at the Washington Post and served as host of NPR’s “Talk of the Nation.” He previously spent 23 years at the Washington Post and served as host of NPR’s “Talk of the Nation.”

---

SPORTS

Friday, April 16, 2015

---

The Baylor Lariat
Baylor equestrian ready to perform in championships

For the majority of the 2014-15 season, Baylor equestrian head coach Felecia Mulkey (no relation to women’s basketball head coach Kim Mulkey) looks to earn her fifth-straight national title and first title without Mulkey.

The Bears recently received the one seed of the tournament. The Bears face eight seed King University at noon on April 23.

Three-seed Oregon has won the past four years and entered this season as the only team to have beaten two-seed Hawaii Pacific University (4-5) are the seven seed. Six-seed. The hosting Fairmont State University (5-3) are the five seed after ending the regular season with a 5-3 record and Alderson Broaddus University (4-5) is the seven seed.

Baylor A&T enters nationals as No. 1

By: Jeffrey Swindoll
Sports Writer

Baylor enters the 2015 National Collegiate Acrobatics & Tumbling National Championship as the one seed. The National Collegiate Acrobatics & Tumbling Association announced the entire tournament bracket on Wednesday.

The Bears start their campaign in the second round, meaning they have a bye in the first round of action. The bye will also give Baylor an opportunity to see what the judges are looking for and kind of liking,” White said. “That will be our chance to kind of strategize.”

Seniors on this year’s roster are the last class that was part of the national championship winning team in 2012. While said this is her best group of seniors in terms of skill and experience that she has ever had to work with. The seniors will include this last opportunity to achieve another national title.

“This is my last meet,” senior Gillian Chant said. “Going into the second round, it could be my last time showing, so I definitely want to have it all out there. There’s no room to be reserved here. You can’t be cautious, you just have to go all out. I’m just ready to work for the team. It’s really great to be on such a good team. You feel confident when you go out there that every girl is going to do their part to be winning part of this championship.”

Chant said the team struggled through some deep valleys this year, challenging the team to dig deeper. However, the Bears fought in winning the Big 12 championship exemplified the character of the team, she said.

"With that rough stretch, we are coming," Chant said. "It's so tough to win the road with so many. So you really just take the good parts of that. You can’t linger on it, it’s just great being on a team that can rebound like that, and we never got down on ourselves. It was great to come back and win the Big 12 Championship.”

Bright and early at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Baylor teams the winner of the first round meet between seven seed TCU and 10 seed Oklahoma State, both of which are Big 12 schools. The Bears had earlier in the year. Their next take place today.

Baylor acrobatics & tumbling competes during the meet against Oregon at Portland on Sunday at the Foster Center. The Bears will compete in the national meet on April 24-25.

Two-seed Hawaii Pacific University will follow behind the Bears after finishing the regular season 5-1. The Shaka’s only lost this season came in their opening meet against A&M Pacific. The Shaka’s went on to win five consecutive meets ending with a massive upset over Oregon.

Three-seed Oregon has won the competition four years in a row. The Ducks faltered this season after losing twice to Baylor and once against Marist. Both by a close margin. First-year head coach Chelsea Shiver could lead Oregon to their fifth-straight national title and first title without Mulkey.

Four-seed A&M Pacific University finished 3-4, but the win-loss record may be deceiving. The Cougars won the only team to beat Houston twice this season. In comparison to the team’s lower seed in the bracket, the Cougars actually have a worse record, but more quality wins.

Quinnipiac University received the five seed after ending the regular season with a 6-3 record and Alderson Broaddus University (4-5) was selected as the six seed. The hosting Fairmont State University (4-5) are the seven seed.

The winners of the meet between Baylor and King will face the winner of the A&M Pacific versus meet.

"Having a first-round bye will give us an opportunity to see what the judges are looking for and kind of liking,” White said. “That will be our chance to kind of strategize.”

Seniors on this year’s roster are the last class that was part of the national championship winning team in 2012. While said this is her best group of seniors in terms of skill and experience that she has ever had to work with. The seniors will include this last opportunity to achieve another national title.

“This is my last meet,” senior Gillian Chant said. “Going into the second round, it could be my last time showing, so I definitely want to have it all out there. There’s no room to be reserved here. You can’t be cautious, you just have to go all out. I’m just ready to work for the team. It’s really great to be on such a good team. You feel confident when you go out there that every girl is going to do their part to be winning part of this championship.”

Chant said the team struggled through some deep valleys this year, challenging the team to dig deeper. However, the Bears fought in winning the Big 12 championship exemplified the character of the team, she said.

"With that rough stretch, we are coming," Chant said. "It’s so tough to win the road with so many. So you really just take the good parts of that. You can’t linger on it, it’s just great being on a team that can rebound like that, and we never got down on ourselves. It was great to come back and win the Big 12 Championship.”

Bright and early at 8:30 a.m. Friday, Baylor teams the winner of the first round meet between seven seed TCU and 10 seed Oklahoma State, both of which are Big 12 schools. The Bears had earlier in the year. Their next take place today.