Waco Walks aims to change transportation

MEGAN RULE

Waco Walks, a group that meets monthly for a book club and then a walk, is making its way through downtown, hoping to turn Waco into a walking community.

“We walk on people in Waco for a long time who have been trying to make Waco more walkable and have cared about sidewalks,” said Ashley Bean Blanchett, the director of Waco’s Walks and director of Act Locally Waco’s “there were quite a few people who were interested in the notion of walking and, within that, people who were interested in different things. Some people were interested in it for more exercise, some people were interested in the point of view of neighborhood development and some people were into it because they just can’t afford to own a car. Another aspect of it is people who were interested in it from the point of view of being good community development and, in particular, downtown development.”

Waco Walks started when Thompson picked up the book “Walkable City: How Downtowns Can Save America One Step at a Time” by Jeff Speck and gathered a group for a book discussion. Through the book club meeting people decided they wanted to continue to get together once

>>WHAT’S INSIDE

Opinión

Us vs. them mentality: The 46 attorneys that were let go have a reason

Arts & Life

“Song or Song” starring Jeff Buckley, Natalie Portman and Cate Blanchett hits theaters on Friday.

Sports

Softball plays doublesheader against Incarnate Word Friday.

Baylor associate director of football operations fired

BAYLORLARIAT.COM

Ben Everett

Former Baylor President and Chancellor Ken Starr released a new book detailing his time in office for Baylor. Starr spoke on religious freedoms at a McLennan County Republican Women’s meeting on Tuesday. The meeting was followed by a book signing.

Starr said he loved telling the Baylor story as president and chancellor, and writing “Bear Country: The Baylor Story” was a way for him to continue doing that. The book was also an opportunity for him to address the scandal that led to his resignation.

“The circumstances changed, but what our marching orders are, and educate us on what we need to do, what our marching orders are for breaking news updates and more

STARR ➔ Page 5

WALKS ➔ Page 5

We’re there when you can’t be

MARCH 15, 2017

BAYLORLARIAT.COM

Starr releases book about experiences at Baylor

Rylee Seavers

Former Baylor President and Chancellor Ken Starr released a new book detailing his time in office for Baylor. Starr spoke on religious freedoms at a McLennan County Republican Women’s meeting on Tuesday. The meeting was followed by a book signing.

Starr said he loved telling the Baylor story as president and chancellor, and writing “Bear Country: The Baylor Story” was a way for him to continue doing that. The book was also an opportunity for him to address the scandal that led to his resignation.

“The circumstances changed, but what our marching orders are, and educate us on what we need to do, what our marching orders are

Starr’s concerns for higher education have been trying to make Waco more walkable and have cared about sidewalks,” said Ashley Bean Blanchett, the director of Waco’s Walks and director of Act Locally Waco. “There were quite a few people who were interested in the notion of walking and, within that, people who were interested in different things. Some people were interested in it for more exercise, some people were interested in the point of view of neighborhood development and some people were into it because they just can’t afford to own a car. Another aspect of it is people who were interested in it from the point of view of being good community development and, in particular, downtown development.”

Waco Walks started when Thompson picked up the book “Walkable City: How Downtowns Can Save America One Step at a Time” by Jeff Speck and gathered a group for a book discussion. Through the book club meeting people decided they wanted to continue to get together once

>>WHAT’S INSIDE

Opinion

Us vs. them mentality: The 46 attorneys that were let go have a reason to be upset.

Arts & Life

“Song or Song” starring Jeff Buckley, Natalie Portman and Cate Blanchett hits theaters on Friday.

Sports

Softball plays doublesheader against Incarnate Word Friday.

Baylor associate director of football operations fired

Ben Everett

Former Baylor President and Chancellor Ken Starr released a new book detailing his time in office for Baylor. Starr spoke on religious freedoms at a McLennan County Republican Women’s meeting on Tuesday. The meeting was followed by a book signing.

Starr said he loved telling the Baylor story as president and chancellor, and writing “Bear Country: The Baylor Story” was a way for him to continue doing that. The book was also an opportunity for him to address the scandal that led to his resignation.

“The circumstances changed, but what our marching orders are, and educate us on what we need to do, what our marching orders are

Starr’s concerns for higher education have been trying to make Waco more walkable and have cared about sidewalks,” said Ashley Bean Blanchett, the director of Waco’s Walks and director of Act Locally Waco. “There were quite a few people who were interested in the notion of walking and, within that, people who were interested in different things. Some people were interested in it for more exercise, some people were interested in the point of view of neighborhood development and some people were into it because they just can’t afford to own a car. Another aspect of it is people who were interested in it from the point of view of being good community development and, in particular, downtown development.”

Waco Walks started when Thompson picked up the book “Walkable City: How Downtowns Can Save America One Step at a Time” by Jeff Speck and gathered a group for a book discussion. Through the book club meeting people decided they wanted to continue to get together once

>>WHAT’S INSIDE

Opinion

Us vs. them mentality: The 46 attorneys that were let go have a reason to be upset.

Arts & Life

“Song or Song” starring Jeff Buckley, Natalie Portman and Cate Blanchett hits theaters on Friday.

Sports

Softball plays doublesheader against Incarnate Word Friday.

Baylor associate director of football operations fired

Ben Everett

Former Baylor President and Chancellor Ken Starr released a new book detailing his time in office for Baylor. Starr spoke on religious freedoms at a McLennan County Republican Women’s meeting on Tuesday. The meeting was followed by a book signing.

Starr said he loved telling the Baylor story as president and chancellor, and writing “Bear Country: The Baylor Story” was a way for him to continue doing that. The book was also an opportunity for him to address the scandal that led to his resignation.

“The circumstances changed, but what our marching orders are, and educate us on what we need to do, what our marching orders are

Starr’s concerns for higher education have been trying to make Waco more walkable and have cared about sidewalks,” said Ashley Bean Blanchett, the director of Waco’s Walks and director of Act Locally Waco. “There were quite a few people who were interested in the notion of walking and, within that, people who were interested in different things. Some people were interested in it for more exercise, some people were interested in the point of view of neighborhood development and some people were into it because they just can’t afford to own a car. Another aspect of it is people who were interested in it from the point of view of being good community development and, in particular, downtown development.”

Waco Walks started when Thompson picked up the book “Walkable City: How Downtowns Can Save America One Step at a Time” by Jeff Speck and gathered a group for a book discussion. Through the book club meeting people decided they wanted to continue to get together once

>>WHAT’S INSIDE

Opinion

Us vs. them mentality: The 46 attorneys that were let go have a reason to be upset.

Arts & Life

“Song or Song” starring Jeff Buckley, Natalie Portman and Cate Blanchett hits theaters on Friday.

Sports

Softball plays doublesheader against Incarnate Word Friday.
46 isn’t such an old number

By Kaitlyn DeHaven

On Friday, March 10, 46 United States Attorneys were let go from their positions by Donald Trump. These 46 U.S. Attorneys had already left their office during the presidential transition, so the decision to push the remaining attorneys out was met with outrage and condemnation from attorneys, the media, and the public. They resided in the attorney general’s Washington D.C. office, which was newly named following Longoria’s resignation. Since then, Trump has fired U.S. attorneys, and they have had contact with the current administration or played any part in the campaign. The thought of the Russian government having any contact with the current administration or playing any part in the campaign is under the leadership of President Donald Trump.

The United States routinely monitors the phones of Russian diplomats.Flynn resigned in unseemly fashion after pleading Vice President Mike Pence about his contact with the Russian ambassador.Spying on phones is under the secret phone conversations with Kislyak held while President Obama was in office. The Russian government, especially in Moscow, London, and Paris, has had close contact with Kislyak and other officials in our government.

According to the United States Attorney’s Office, U.S. Attorneys are federal legislators who represent the legal entity of the United States in any case in which the U.S. is involved. These attorneys also work under the Attorney General and serve terms of four years.

On Thursday, after former President Bill Clinton told Donald Trump that Attorney General Jeff Sessions was not qualified for the position, the U.S. Attorney General recused himself from their positions, which also linked him to the Russian government, thereby overtaking the placements that former president and opposing party member George W. Bush had made. George W. Bush also appointed many so-called Special Counsel-appointed attorneys.

In making the concept of “cleaning house” all day long be to the former Attorney General, Jeff Sessions. Each president since then has had the opportunity to do it after Trump’s election, making such a big deal about Trump having cleaned house.

Since his election, Trump has had a massive amount of support and his opponents analyzing both his every move, and the tensions between parties over social and economic issues, it comes as no surprise that Trump has found some serious backlinks in these areas. People are taking issues with Trump and Attorney General Jeff Sessions in their choice relieving all the remaining U.S. attorneys, with little warning and a lack of communication.

For example, according to a CNN article published on March 12, Puerto Rico, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York, was said by the fact that there was something not quite right for his release and that he was originally under consideration to be fired by the president himself.

Barr, along with two other U.S. Attorneys were implicated by the attorney general’s decision to remove them from their positions. Barr has been identified as the new attorney general, and it is under his authority.

In short, the elections are right around the corner and the last thing you want is to cast your vote.

Student Government elections are right around the corner and the last thing you want is to cast your vote. Whether the idea of electing new senators and officials in Student Government interests you or not, it is important you pay attention to the upcoming election.

Student Government is an organization on campus that seeks to represent and advocate for students at Baylor. It is comprised of about 130 students who work in the executive, legislative and judicial branches. You may not realize it, but the work Student Government does directly benefits you and your life.

Have you ever been upset about parking or that your roommate is in a roommate program? It is easy to point those parking spots or argue because there are many spots left in each garage, on various garages on campus. What if your student organization is planning an event and needs extra money? Well, Student Government can make sure your event goes off without a hitch by using money from their budget.

The Baylor Lariat welcomes reader viewpoints through letters to the editor and op-eds. Opinions expressed in these columns are those of the individual writers and do not necessarily represent the views of the Student Publications Board.

Editorials, Columns & Letters

Letters are to the editor. Columns are the opinions of an individual and not the Baylor Lariat.

The Baylor Lariat welcomes reader viewpoints through letters to the editor and op-eds. Opinions expressed in these columns are those of the individual writers and do not necessarily represent the views of the Student Publications Board.

Lariat Letters

Letters are to the editor. Columns are the opinions of an individual and not the Baylor Lariat.

President Mike Pence about his contact with the Russian ambassador. Spy between C-Span while Rep. Maxine Waters is on the House floor, and the United States routinely monitors the phones of Russian diplomats.

Flynn resigned in unseemly fashion after pleading Vice President Mike Pence about his contact with the Russian ambassador. Spy between C-Span while Rep. Maxine Waters is on the House floor, and the United States routinely monitors the phones of Russian diplomats.
SIGNING DAY:
FRIDAY, MARCH 17TH

Pick Your Pad  |  Hard Hat Tours  |  Free Food

Enter to win a
BUDDY 50CC
MOPED!

New low rates starting at $559!

SAVE $200
WITH ZERO DOWN

FREE PARKING

Apply online today at
UPOINTEONSPEIGHT.COM
The Multicultural Leadership Summit is an event designed to enhance cultural competency in order to make people more able to lead and change the world. This year, the Multicultural Leadership Summit will be held on Sunday, March 26 at Baylor.

The summit consists of several keynote speakers and breakout sessions where attendees work in groups and have discussions.

Assistant Director of Multicultural Affairs Geoffrey Griggs said the speakers teach on a variety of topics focused around cultural competency.

“They hope to help attendees enhance their cross-cultural competency and ability to work with people who are different from themselves. An additional goal is that individuals will gain a deeper understanding of the importance of a healthy ethnic identity,” Griggs said.

The summit is not limited to only Baylor students. Several other institutions and universities come to Baylor to attend the multicultural leadership summit.

According to the department of multicultural affairs, Baylor students can register for $15 beginning March 4 while regular registration is $25 through March 18. After March 19, prices go up to $30 for non-Baylor students. The summit usually hosts around 100-200 attendees.

“Students from all schools block out their schedules so this is a one-day conference that is also going to provide you with tools that will help you in today’s world,” Griggs said. Griggs hopes that students will gain valuable life lessons that can help them in the future.

“If hope is that students will be able to see how important it is to attend conferences like this and learn about the differences in today’s society and what they can do as individuals to make a better society,” Griggs said.

Houston sophomore and peer mentor Love Opoku Afrifa said she was interested in attending the multicultural leadership summit because she thinks it will provide valuable life lessons.

“A lot of educational ways we can interact with other cultures and lead other cultures is extremely beneficial because of the power it has to change individual perspectives and promote cultural awareness and acceptance,” Afrifa said.

Afrifa said education on cultural awareness is very important and effective in any organization, which makes the summit worthwhile.

The Multicultural Leadership Summit will be held on Saturday, March 25 at Baylor.

The summit is not limited to only Baylor and will have several keynote speakers and group discussions.

Leadership Summit Saturday, March 25, to enhance cultural competency and understanding. The event designed to enhance cultural competency and understanding.

CHRISTINA SOTO

The Baylor Lariat

Wednesday, March 15, 2017

CHRISTINA SOTO

Reporter

Noon to 6 p.m.

Where?

Bear Faire in the Stone Room of the Ferrell Center

Register for appointments online at throughstonestudio.com using school code 03545

Baylor University

ROUNDUP

Yearbook

SENIORS ONLY

Wednesday, March 29

Noon to 6 p.m.

Thursday, March 30

Noon to 6 p.m.

Where?

Bear Faire in the Stone Room of the Ferrell Center

Roundup, despite a company program to track suspicious

“Their community has been significantly damaged and we need to be made whole,” said Stephenson, who grew up in Everett and is its longest-serving mayor, holding the job since 2003.

He said the opioid crisis caused by “Purdue’s drive for profit” has overwhelmed the city’s resources, stretching everyone from first responders to park crews who clean up discarded syringes. The lawsuit doesn’t say how much money the city is seeking, but Everett’s lawsuit, now in federal court in Seattle, accuses Purdue Pharma of gross negligence and nuisance.

The city seeks to hold the company accountable, the lawsuit alleges, for “supplying OxyContin to obviously suspicious pharmacies and physicians and enabiling the illegal diversion of OxyContin into the black market” and into,

The city seeks to hold the company accountable, the lawsuit alleges, for “supplying OxyContin to obviously suspicious pharmacies and physicians and enabling the illegal diversion of OxyContin into the black market” and into,

According to the department of multicultural affairs, Baylor students can register for $15 beginning March 4 while regular registration is $25 through March 18. After March 19, prices go up to $30 for non-Baylor students. The summit usually hosts around 100-200 attendees.

“Students from all schools block out their schedules so this is a one-day conference that is also going to provide you with tools that will help you in today’s world,” Griggs said. Griggs hopes that students will gain valuable life lessons that can help them in the future.

“If hope is that students will be able to see how important it is to attend conferences like this and learn about the differences in today’s society and what they can do as individuals to make a better society,” Griggs said.

Houston sophomore and peer mentor Love Opoku Afrifa said she was interested in attending the multicultural leadership summit because she thinks it will provide valuable life lessons.

“A lot of educational ways we can interact with other cultures and lead other cultures is extremely beneficial because of the power it has to change individual perspectives and promote cultural awareness and acceptance,” Afrifa said.

Afrifa said education on cultural awareness is very important and effective in any organization, which makes the summit worthwhile.

The Multicultural Leadership Summit will be held on Saturday, March 25 at Baylor.

The summit is not limited to only Baylor and will have several keynote speakers and group discussions.

Leadership Summit Saturday, March 25, to enhance cultural competency and understanding. The event designed to enhance cultural competency and understanding.

NEWS

Wednesday, March 15, 2017

OxyContin flood black market

Associated Press

EVEETT, Wash. — As deaths from opium and heroin abuse spiked and street prices increased, the mayor of Everett took major steps to tackle the epidemic decorating this working-class city north of Seattle.

Mayor Ray Stephanson stepped up patrols, hired social workers to ride with officers and pushed for more permanent housing for chronically homeless people.

The city’s resources, stretching everyone from first responders to park crews who clean up discarded syringes. The lawsuit doesn’t say how much money the city is seeking, but Everett’s lawsuit, now in federal court in Seattle, accuses Purdue Pharma of gross negligence and nuisance.

The city seeks to hold the company accountable, the lawsuit alleges, for “supplying OxyContin to obviously suspicious pharmacies and physicians and enabling the illegal diversion of OxyContin into the black market” and into,

According to the department of multicultural affairs, Baylor students can register for $15 beginning March 4 while regular registration is $25 through March 18. After March 19, prices go up to $30 for non-Baylor students. The summit usually hosts around 100-200 attendees.

“Students from all schools block out their schedules so this is a one-day conference that is also going to provide you with tools that will help you in today’s world,” Griggs said. Griggs hopes that students will gain valuable life lessons that can help them in the future.

“If hope is that students will be able to see how important it is to attend conferences like this and learn about the differences in today’s society and what they can do as individuals to make a better society,” Griggs said.

Houston sophomore and peer mentor Love Opoku Afrifa said she was interested in attending the multicultural leadership summit because she thinks it will provide valuable life lessons.

“A lot of educational ways we can interact with other cultures and lead other cultures is extremely beneficial because of the power it has to change individual perspectives and promote cultural awareness and acceptance,” Afrifa said.

Afrifa said education on cultural awareness is very important and effective in any organization, which makes the summit worthwhile.

The Multicultural Leadership Summit will be held on Saturday, March 25 at Baylor.

The summit is not limited to only Baylor and will have several keynote speakers and group discussions.

Leadership Summit Saturday, March 25, to enhance cultural competency and understanding. The event designed to enhance cultural competency and understanding.

NEWS

Wednesday, March 15, 2017

OxyContin flood black market

Associated Press

EVEETT, Wash. — As deaths from opium and heroin abuse spiked and street prices increased, the mayor of Everett took major steps to tackle the epidemic decorating this working-class city north of Seattle.

Mayor Ray Stephanson stepped up patrols, hired social workers to ride with officers and pushed for more permanent housing for chronically homeless people.

The city’s resources, stretching everyone from first responders to park crews who clean up discarded syringes. The lawsuit doesn’t say how much money the city is seeking, but Everett’s lawsuit, now in federal court in Seattle, accuses Purdue Pharma of gross negligence and nuisance.

The city seeks to hold the company accountable, the lawsuit alleges, for “supplying OxyContin to obviously suspicious pharmacies and physicians and enabling the illegal diversion of OxyContin into the black market” and into,

According to the department of multicultural affairs, Baylor students can register for $15 beginning March 4 while regular registration is $25 through March 18. After March 19, prices go up to $30 for non-Baylor students. The summit usually hosts around 100-200 attendees.

“Students from all schools block out their schedules so this is a one-day conference that is also going to provide you with tools that will help you in today’s world,” Griggs said. Griggs hopes that students will gain valuable life lessons that can help them in the future.

“If hope is that students will be able to see how important it is to attend conferences like this and learn about the differences in today’s society and what they can do as individuals to make a better society,” Griggs said.

Houston sophomore and peer mentor Love Opoku Afrifa said she was interested in attending the multicultural leadership summit because she thinks it will provide valuable life lessons.

“A lot of educational ways we can interact with other cultures and lead other cultures is extremely beneficial because of the power it has to change individual perspectives and promote cultural awareness and acceptance,” Afrifa said.

Afrifa said education on cultural awareness is very important and effective in any organization, which makes the summit worthwhile.

The Multicultural Leadership Summit will be held on Saturday, March 25 at Baylor.

The summit is not limited to only Baylor and will have several keynote speakers and group discussions.

Leadership Summit Saturday, March 25, to enhance cultural competency and understanding. The event designed to enhance cultural competency and understanding.

NEWS

Wednesday, March 15, 2017

OxyContin flood black market

Associated Press

EVEETT, Wash. — As deaths from opium and heroin abuse spiked and street prices increased, the mayor of Everett took major steps to tackle the epidemic decorating this working-class city north of Seattle.

Mayor Ray Stephanson stepped up patrols, hired social workers to ride with officers and pushed for more permanent housing for chronically homeless people.

The city’s resources, stretching everyone from first responders to park crews who clean up discarded syringes. The lawsuit doesn’t say how much money the city is seeking, but Everett’s lawsuit, now in federal court in Seattle, accuses Purdue Pharma of gross negligence and nuisance.

The city seeks to hold the company accountable, the lawsuit alleges, for “supplying OxyContin to obviously suspicious pharmacies and physicians and enabling the illegal diversion of OxyContin into the black market” and into,

According to the department of multicultural affairs, Baylor students can register for $15 beginning March 4 while regular registration is $25 through March 18. After March 19, prices go up to $30 for non-Baylor students. The summit usually hosts around 100-200 attendees.

“Students from all schools block out their schedules so this is a one-day conference that is also going to provide you with tools that will help you in today’s world,” Griggs said. Griggs hopes that students will gain valuable life lessons that can help them in the future.

“If hope is that students will be able to see how important it is to attend conferences like this and learn about the differences in today’s society and what they can do as individuals to make a better society,” Griggs said.

Houston sophomore and peer mentor Love Opoku Afrifa said she was interested in attending the multicultural leadership summit because she thinks it will provide valuable life lessons.

“A lot of educational ways we can interact with other cultures and lead other cultures is extremely beneficial because of the power it has to change individual perspectives and promote cultural awareness and acceptance,” Afrifa said.

Afrifa said education on cultural awareness is very important and effective in any organization, which makes the summit worthwhile.

The Multicultural Leadership Summit will be held on Saturday, March 25 at Baylor.

The summit is not limited to only Baylor and will have several keynote speakers and group discussions.

Leadership Summit Saturday, March 25, to enhance cultural competency and understanding. The event designed to enhance cultural competency and understanding.
"There were quite a few people interested in the notion of walking." — Ashley Bean Thornton, Member of Waco Walks

Wednesday, March 15, 2017
The Baylor Lariat
Spring into food, fun, festivities

KASSIDY WOTEX

Manager

For a Wacoan who’s been to Magnolia Market at the Silos, the springtime event Sprig at the Silos is nothing new. For those who haven’t been before, however, the event is a must-see. It’s a chance to see the Silos in full bloom, with flowers in bloom and all sorts of vendors setting up shop. The event is a chance to see the Silos in full bloom, with flowers in bloom and all sorts of vendors setting up shop. The event is a chance to see the Silos in full bloom, with flowers in bloom and all sorts of vendors setting up shop. The event is a chance to see the Silos in full bloom, with flowers in bloom and all sorts of vendors setting up shop.
No. 14 Baylor softball ended its winning streak at 15 games, but with a doubleheader sweep over Tuesday evening over Houston Baptist and the University of Texas-San Antonio.

In the first game of the doubleheader, Baylor Handball Inscramble Word 3-0, the Lady Bears Fastpitch complete game performance from freshman pitcher Shelby McGlinn.

Baylor head coach Glen Molin said McGlinn’s performance was not only huge for her, but also for the entire pitching staff moving forward.

“You [McGlinn] pitches a one-hitter, very close to a no-hitter, so you can’t ask much more out of that than that,” Molin said. “The biggest thing we got to do is throw our pitches.”

We got to work good out of all three. We throw our pitches [Kelser] Salina a whole hit, but she got to have less than ten runs, too.”

The loss hit off of the bat pitch hitter C.庭生 as she ripped a home run to left center to open the scoring in the third. McGlinn then proceeded to retire the next five batters to end the inning on a 3-0 deployment.

McGlinn was relieved in the sixth inning by senior pitcher Kelsee Selman.

“Baylor Lariat Radio”

FIREBALLING IT IN THERE

McGlinn retired the next six batters, striking out five and walking one, to extend the no-hitter into the fourth inning.

Cargill struck out the next three when he entered the game in the fifth inning.

Cargill added another batter in the sixth inning, but she was retired by McGlinn.

The Lady Bears struck first in the second inning. Freshman outfielder Maddox

Assistant coach motivates players during workouts

STEPHEN HAWKINS

While the Bears have made the NCAA Tournament, their strength of schedule during the season has been weak, and while point guard Manu Lecomte has dealt with a sprained right ankle.

Both teams are ranked in the top 12 in the country, with Baylor at No. 12 and SMU at No. 11.

While the Bears are 12-2, the Mustangs are 13-1, with SMU having won their last 10 games.

The Mustangs are led by head coach Travis Ford, who is in his 10th season at SMU.

Ford is a former assistant coach at Baylor under Scott Drew, and has led SMU to a 6-2 record against the Bears in their previous meetings.

Ford has a career record of 285-167, including a 122-71 mark at SMU.

Ford has guided the Mustangs to the NCAA Tournament in each of the last three seasons, reaching the Sweet 16 in 2016.

The Bears are currently ranked No. 12 in the country by the Associated Press, and are ranked 15th in the coaches' poll.

Baylor has won four of its last five games, including a 72-66 win over SMU on Feb. 16.

The Lady Bears are 26-3 overall and 10-1 in the Big 12 Conference.

SMU is 21-8 overall and 10-1 in the American Athletic Conference.

The Bears and Mustangs will meet for the second time this season when SMU visits Waco on Feb. 23.

Baylor leads the all-time series between the two teams 25-22, with the last meeting between the two coming on Jan. 9, 2016, with Baylor winning 72-66.

The Bears are averaging 69.8 points per game and 39.5 rebounds per game.

The Mustangs are averaging 70.1 points per game and 34.6 rebounds per game.

The Lady Bears are led by senior guard DiDi Richards, who is averaging 13.5 points per game and 7.2 rebounds per game.

SMU is led by senior guard Kendra John, who is averaging 13.3 points per game and 5.1 rebounds per game.

The Lady Bears have won five of their last six games, including a 77-72 win over the Mustangs on Jan. 9.

Baylor is currently ranked 12th in the Associated Press poll and 15th in the coaches' poll.

SMU is currently ranked 15th in the Associated Press poll and 11th in the coaches' poll.

The Lady Bears are looking to win their 10th straight game and extend their winning streak to 11 games, which would tie a school record.

The Mustangs are looking to snap their two-game losing streak and get back to winning.

The Lady Bears have won seven of their last eight games, including a 77-72 win over the Mustangs on Jan. 9.

SMU has won four of its last five games, but is currently in a 2-2 conference record.

The Lady Bears are looking to win their 10th straight game and extend their winning streak to 11 games, which would tie a school record.

The Mustangs are looking to snap their two-game losing streak and get back to winning.

The Lady Bears have won seven of their last eight games, including a 77-72 win over the Mustangs on Jan. 9.

SMU has won four of its last five games, but is currently in a 2-2 conference record.

The Lady Bears are looking to win their 10th straight game and extend their winning streak to 11 games, which would tie a school record.

The Mustangs are looking to snap their two-game losing streak and get back to winning.

The Lady Bears have won seven of their last eight games, including a 77-72 win over the Mustangs on Jan. 9.

SMU has won four of its last five games, but is currently in a 2-2 conference record.

The Lady Bears are looking to win their 10th straight game and extend their winning streak to 11 games, which would tie a school record.

The Mustangs are looking to snap their two-game losing streak and get back to winning.

The Lady Bears have won seven of their last eight games, including a 77-72 win over the Mustangs on Jan. 9.

SMU has won four of its last five games, but is currently in a 2-2 conference record.
Jump-start your career before you graduate.

APPLY TO BECOME A COMMUNITY ASSISTANT AT U POINTE ON SPEIGHT AND UNION!

March 15th
Info Session
5PM AT THE U POINTE LEASING CENTER | 1212 SPEIGHT AVE

March 28th
Info Session
5PM AT THE U POINTE LEASING CENTER | 1212 SPEIGHT AVE

March 29th
Applications End

April 2nd
Group Interviews

April 4th
Individual Interviews Begin

May 15th
Anticipated Start Date

Want more information?
U Pointe on Speight 254.870.9772
Union 254.752.5050

See all of our student job openings and apply on our website at:
AmericanCampus.com/CommunityAssistant