Lyons, former Baylor Title IX officer, files complaint against university

The statute of limitations allowed Lyons 180 days to file her complaint, Dunn said. Prior to her resignation, Lyons never approached Baylor officials regarding these issues.

“While Ms. Lyons claims a lack of support for the Title IX office, resources were made available as requested by the Title IX coordinator,” Baylor said in a statement responding to Lyons’ allegations. “We stress that Baylor is heavily complying for the regulation of these Title IX investigations.”

This, in turn, allowed me to stay connected with those who mattered to me, whether they were close friends or family members. Additionally, these tools enabled me to share experiences and insights from my summer, fostering a sense of togetherness and shared understanding. As a corollary, it is essential to focus on maintaining these connections and ensuring that we prioritize the development of meaningful relationships. Whether it is through technology, education, or other means, we must work towards building stronger social ties that will help us navigate the complexities of modern life. As we progress further into an increasingly interconnected world, it is crucial to cultivate a sense of community and belonging. In conclusion, the summer of 2023 was a transformative experience for me. It allowed me to explore new opportunities, strengthen existing relationships, and gain invaluable insights into my own growth and development. By embracing these lessons and applying them to my future endeavors, I am confident that I will continue to make meaningful contributions to society and lead a fulfilling life. In light of these experiences, I would like to encourage others to embrace similar opportunities and embark on journeys of self-discovery and personal growth. Through this, we can create a more connected and supportive world that values and nurtures the growth of every individual. Let us continue to support one another as we navigate the challenges and opportunities of the modern world.

Baylor Model UN was honored at conference

RYLLE SEAVERS

Baylor Model United Nations was honored at the Twenty-Fifth United Nations Foundation conference held from Jan. 13 to 15 in Austin. Baylor Model UN was named Outstanding Delegation for this conference, and Baylor delegate junior Kim Andrew Allen, senior Cassie Correa and senior Allie Bush were named Outstanding Individual Performers. Graduate assistant Leilah Golchin, junior Matt Waller were both named delegates by their peers.

At the conference, Baylor represented Angola, China, Guatemala and Germany. Each committee and the General Assembly are composed of different countries to represent a unique perspective. Students participating in Model United Nations are assigned to a country and must research the topic given in order to represent their assigned nation. The three most common committees are disarmament and non-proliferation, economic and financial, and social, cultural and humanitarian issues, said Dr. Rebecca Roman, senior lecturer in the department of political science and Baylor Model UN adviser.

“I expect that in going to know everything about their topic and also knowing how to be a team player and how to be diplomatic,” Harris said.

Preparation for conferences is researched based, but also includes practicing parliamentary procedure, public speaking, caution about the time management during the conference. Harris said.

“The emphasis is on the educational experience,” Harris said. “Everyone is part of a conference and it’s come even with [awards], it doesn’t mean that it was a waste of time.”

Each semester, Baylor Model UN introduces a different nation and each delegate must be prepared to represent that nation. The delegates are assigned by their advisor, Dr. Rebecca Roman, and are then given the country they will be representing.

“Nothing is that hard when you are trying to be a good delegate for those roles in how [sic] accurately portray the [country] that you are given,” said Omar senior and head delegate Morgan Rollag. Rollag will be representing the Russian Federation at the national conference this upcoming April. “It’s difficult when you don’t want to be disrespectful of other cultures if you do go to a conference when you might have students from Argentina or Brazil.”

Rollag was awarded best delegate in the security council by Baylor’s campus colleague, Model UN Chicago, which Baylor attended in November.

“The idea is that we have to work within the country that it means that other people recognized your hard work as distinct and separate from your peers,” said Rollag.

“Something that I feel is important is that students who have participating in Baylor have gone on to other conferences and they have worked with different countries,” said Rollag.

“We have something for everyone,” Harris said. “Almost any career avenue that you can think of, Model UN can prepare you for.”

Gaga for ‘La La Land’

Musical film leaves viewers happy, humming

NATHAN KEIL
Sports Editor

If you’re a drama buff or a fan of musicals, or in search of a good romantic film, then perhaps ‘La La Land’ is for you. The musical film leaves viewers happy, humming as they leave the theater.

The film, directed by Damien Chazelle, tells the story of two young musicians—Sebastian, portrayed by Ryan Gosling, and Mia, portrayed by Emma Stone—whose dreams of making it big in Hollywood intertwine.

Sebastian is an aspiring jazz musician who dreams of opening his own jazz club. Mia, on the other hand, is an aspiring actress who dreams of breaking into Hollywood. They meet on the 405 freeway, where Sebastian is whistling while driving and Mia is singing opera. They quickly develop a connection, and their lives become intertwined as they struggle to achieve their dreams.

The film’s musical numbers are beautifully choreographed and sung by Gosling and Stone, who are both excellent vocalists. Their chemistry on the screen is undeniable, and their musical numbers are always a highlight of the film.

Despite some minor inaccuracies, such as the Los Angeles Freeway system and the Hollywood sign being visible from the beach in one scene, the film’s charm and sense of nostalgia make up for these minor flaws.

‘La La Land’ is a film that celebrates the power of dreams and the importance of following your passion. It’s a film that reminds us that there is a better life out there, and that with hard work and dedication, anything is possible.

So, whether you’re a fan of musicals, or just looking for a good rom-com, ‘La La Land’ is a film that you won’t want to miss.
REACHING NEW HEIGHTS

Before each season, a list of 50 potential Wooden Award players is released. This is the initial list of 50. In the final results, Motley is one of four Big 12 conference players on the list, joining Iowa State’s Monte Morris and Kansas’ Josh Jackson and Frank Mason III. Motley expressed gratitude for the consideration he was given. “It’s a good accomplishment without my teammates, but I couldn’t have done it if they didn’t believe in me,” Motley said. “They believe in my ability almost more than I do. I’m just thankful for my teammates—the confidence they gave me to go out and perform.”

Motley is one of four Big 12 conference players on the list, joining Iowa State’s Monte Morris and Kansas’ Josh Jackson and Frank Mason III. Motley has led the Bears to a 17-1 start with a 5-1 record in Big 12 play. Additionally, he has been a main factor in the Baylor men’s basketball team earning their first No. 1 ranking.

Motley is a two-time finalist for the Wooden Award, being selected in both 2015 and 2016. Jones is making her first appearance on the list. Davis is averaging 11.6 points and 4.4 rebounds per game this year while Jones is leading the Lady Bears in scoring at 15.3 points per game while shooting 44 percent from three-point range. Davis shrugged off the idea of individual awards meaning more than team results. “It’s a great honor, and it’s definitely a blessing,” Davis said. “Individual awards are great, but we have one common goal, and that’s to get to the Final Four.”

Motley and Jones have led the Lady Bears to an 18-1 season, including 16 straight wins, and a 7-0 conference record. The Lady Bears are one of four teams to have multiple players on the list, joining Connecticut, Maryland and South Carolina. "The Lady Bears face West Virginia at 1 p.m. Saturday at the Ferrell Center.

Sports take: Can Baylor keep its fans?

THOMAS MOTT

The Baylor men's basketball team took on TCU on Saturday in Fort Worth to take on TCU in the second game of last season's matchups against the Bears. The Bears won both games last season as they took on TCU and currently sit fifth in the Big 12, "Motley said.

"We're going to be hungry for this one," Motley said. "We want to keep that winning streak going." The Bears are currently on a six-game winning streak and have a chance to keep the winning streak going against TCU. The Bears are looking to continue success as they face TCU.

"It's the next game up," Johnathan Motley | Baylor junior forward

"It's always good being back home. It's one of the best bigs in the Big 12," Motley said. "We want to be as dominant as possible against TCU and where we sit in the Big 12." The Bears look to continue success as they face TCU.
