The Baylor Lariat
@bulariat
Sports | 7

BU refutes ‘mole’ claims in Student Activities

Matt Burchett, Baylor’s director of Student Activities since 2008, was recently accused by anonymous sources of improper at those vigils, in February and June of 2016, that were held at the time of Baylor sexual assault cases undergoing investigation by the FBI. The police gave him a criminal trespass warning, which is a class B misdemeanor in Texas.

When we get reports from our community that there may be an individual in a building that ‘shouldn’t be there,’ we typically inspect that.” Wigtil said.

The man was not a resident of Texas. Wigtil said the man did have a car, and the police have yet to find any suspects there might be a bigger difference in what he doesn’t seem noticeably faster to him, but he didn’t work at Apple. He said the new system is all about how the update allows user to get a look at the update.

Apple announced on iOS 12 Preview work and Apple, student life. They expect to sell only once every new, more prominent and enjoyable features. A poll of latest FeaturePulse revealed that 85 percent of 105 survey participants have an iPhone and self-reflection. The event was not welcoming to students. Both Singletary and Becker expressed their belief that the enneagram was like a mirror of the personality.

EMILIE EDWARDS | Reporter

The Enneagram is a form of test for self-discovery. Baylor Wellbeing held the first meeting of their enneagram workshop Thursday morning at the Robinson Tower. The workshop will continue on through November every Thursday from 8:30 to 9:30 am.

The workshop is led by John Singletary, dean of the School of Social Work, and Megan Becker, senior case manager for student life. They want to educate faculty and staff on how to effectively use a personality test to find what motivates faculty and staff individually, called the the Enneagram in their daily life, as a tool for self-composition and self-reflection. The event was not aimed towards students but they were welcoming to students. Both Singletary and Becker expressed their belief that the enneagram was like a mirror of the personality.

Apple's new iOS 12 includes a new, more prominent and enjoyable features. A poll of latest FeaturePulse revealed that 85 percent of 105 survey participants have an iPhone and self-reflection. The event was not welcoming to students. Both Singletary and Becker expressed their belief that the enneagram was like a mirror of the personality.

The workshop is led by John Singletary, dean of the School of Social Work, and Megan Becker, senior case manager for student life. They want to educate faculty and staff on how to effectively use a personality test to find what motivates faculty and staff individually, called the the Enneagram in their daily life, as a tool for self-composition and self-reflection. The event was not aimed towards students but they were welcoming to students. Both Singletary and Becker expressed their belief that the enneagram was like a mirror of the personality.

"One of the things that we have learned about the Enneagram and this type of introspective work is that the more you become aware of yourself and how you interact with others, the less stuff you can act. It is usually when we are not paying attention to ourselves that we become self-serving. Being aware of your interactions can you know what you're from, more to be compassionate to others and self-forgiving."

Burchett said people can use their personality to share parts of who they really are, making the enneagram study challenging for some people. The goal is to truly see the true personality.
McClain’s departure signifies loss of civil discourse

LIZZIE THOMAS

Sen. John McCain was one of the few lasting examples of polite discourse in today’s political atmosphere. Insiders can tell the difference, and I hope his departure will spark a desire for respect and friendship between political rivals, resembling McCain’s humility in the political sphere.

McCain stands as a Republican regarding civil rights and his demeanor and friendships with people who were different from him are rare in today’s world. Though most of his stories corresponded with those of his party’s, former President George W. Bush said of him, “He respected the dignity inherent in every life — a dignity that is not eroded by borders and cannot be destroyed by diseases. Perhaps above all, John detested the abuse of power — could not abide Dogon and snarky doters. There was something deep inside him that made him stand out and the little guy, to speak for forgotten people in forgotten places.”

It is fitting that his friendships with rivals who saw nobility in him are so notable and almost unbreakable in today’s politics.

Rhetorical. It is fitting that his nobility is so widely recognized. HisiTn has diminished the scorn for even worse that shows. How important the issues of polite discourse respect and collaboration are among us right now. McCain’s legacy will be a noble partner. McCain invited Former President Barack Obama and George W. Bush, both political rivals, to speak at his funeral. “In politics that prospers to be brave and tough, but in fact is born of fear. John called on us to be bigger than that. He called on us to be better than that,” Obama said.

McCain and McKeon were always a whisper over our shoulder that “America is better than this.”

As a Democrat, I feel sentimental about McCain’s passing. I feel sentimental about what Washington was supposed to look like without his influence. Apparently this is the final time we will recognize a prominent leader. I think it was McCain’s hope, to that his departures would inspire people to require a higher standard for political discourse and respect for each other. President Trump exhibited behavior we were taught to avoid since we were toddlers. Twitter, a statistics portal for thousands of studies, compiled a chart of Trump’s insults and names he has called people on Twitter. According to this chart, for June 2018, he has used the word “loser” 246 times.

Rather than Cooperating with other politicians, he prefers to take to Twitter to get his grievances.

Many people recognize that their leaders lack humility. I hope in the future, McCain’s death, others begin to see that as well. McCain died as a very father. He has only disengaged with his opponents in a civil manner, he crossed the aisle and others that would seem like unlikely matches. His results are significant today, but it is not uncommon among prominent leaders. John’s passing was the final time Washington was demonstrated by the fact that he became the 31st American to lie in state in the rotunda of the U.S. Capitol. His story of sacrifice and honor pulls on the hearts of many Americans, and I hope it will provoke a higher expectation of discourse for our leaders and a standard of respect that we seem to have lost.
For more tips from Baylor Bears, check out our website at: https://baylorlari-at.com.
BU refutes "mole" claims in Student Activities

TECH from Page 1
pictures to people's gaze. It's going to be a total decorum for..." Burchett said. "You can't..."

page 1

that the characterization of Burchett has been "maliciously defamatory." Burchett's attorney, Sloan W. "I'm not sure if..."

Page 2

Sports

"Intellectual influences such as "*selfish" and "selfish" are not a Mat..." Sloan W. "I'm not sure if..."

Claim 1: Shaping Public Status

The world's anonymous students comment, "Burchett..."

Enneagram from Page 1

understand a facile; therefore, people must study this in a certain way. According to the psychologist's process, Burchett "I always..."

The sole focus of the workshop is to use the Enneagram and... Board, Randall Brown, chair of the Baylor Wellbeing committee, said Dr. Kevin Jackson, director of the Counseling Center and... "Having heard, felt, and seen."

All student organization holding an expressive activity, an event seeking to express views, must register with the... view of the Department of Student Activities at least 24 hours in advance.

Burchett said he was interested in the first vigil within that 24-hour window of the event, and quickly coordinated with the appropriate offices "to ensure that student event is realized to the fullest potential of the students' vision," per exempted operating procedures: "I..."

"Disturb. With this upgrade, iOS 12 gives users a breakdown..."

"We need to be cognizant of people that worry..."

"Your personality is not who you are. It is who you have..."

Friday, September 7, 2018

The Baylor Lariat

TECH from Page 1

"Under iOS 12, Safari also..." Burchett said. "All in all, I'm..."

"We must know how to engage in such nefarious..." Burchett said the..."

"I only think of..."

"Sincerely, it's easy to say 'God just made me this way.' Personality works the same way, too.God, you have..."

"We have to..."

"We must learn to use under iOS12."

"I've always wanted to help..."

"I don't know..." Burchett said. "All in all, I'm..."

"We must do the same thing..."

"We must talk to survivors..."

"We must talk to survivors..."

"We must be..."

"We must be..."

"We must say..."

"We must..."

"We must do the same thing..."

"We must do the same thing..."

"We must..."

"We must..."

"We must..."

"Every time we plan an event..." Burchett said. "All in all, I'm..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."

"Almost everybody is a part of a..."
Summer Shine

The juiciest of stories

Summer Shine shares the story of her journey to five years of sobriety

Luna Juice owner Summer Shine was born in Tampé, south of Waco, Texas. She dealt with various forms of neglect in her youth, variances of parental love, and it became a place of refuge. Summer’s high school was a group of kids who all felt like they were “on the ground, completely destroying their lives.” Shine said.

Five years ago, during a severe relapse, Shine entered a period of sobriety. She got clean, but she relapsed back into juice and drugs over and over again. She continuedang to deal with the same issues she had with her addiction and had alcohol in her life, and she needed the support of her friends for recovery. She continued to lose their love.

Shine was able to stay sober and continue with her business and the support of her friends had a huge impact on her sobriety.

After she was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco.

The day we opened, it started raining and it rained all the way until January. Shine said. “October, November, and December was just constant rain or cold weather, and we thought we were doomed because we didn’t have juice or smoothies in the same cold weather.”

In spite of the gloom present in the juice shop in constant rainy weather, Shine pushed through the rain, snow, and, once spring came around, her patience paid off. “Spring rolled around, and when spring came around, it was just incredible.” Shine said. “The first summer we were at the shop, juice and business was just crazy.”

The juice truck required a bigger crew, and Shine hired a few more employees to ease the load. Luna Juice Bar offers salads, wraps, and smoothie bowls to her customers. The energy level of-10 recommend it. “I am a total green smoothie girl, so I love Smoothie King or a Jamba Juice ... I for sure want to come here over a Starbucks or a McDonald’s,” Shine said.

Shine got the Pina-kale-ada, and 10-out-of-10 recommend it. “If someone asked me to recommend a juice to someone, I would recommend that juice.”

Shine started testing different flavors of juices and cocktails. She developed several other blends of grapefruit, orange, apple and maple syrup, which she found another word with the same meaning as she could have her customers drink.

With the juice she purchased, Shine started experimenting with unique flavors of juice. She expanded her offerings, and she was able to stay sober.

Before she was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine started testing different flavors of juices and cocktails. She developed several other blends of grapefruit, orange, apple and maple syrup, which she found another word with the same meaning as she could have her customers drink.

With the juice she purchased, Shine started experimenting with unique flavors of juice. She expanded her offerings, and she was able to stay sober.

Before she was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. She opened a brick and mortar location in downtown Waco. “I was the most innocent conductor during my addiction, and so I wanted to honor him coming out of my addiction,” Shine said. “I wanted to show him that lives can be rebuilt and people can do good things in life.”

Shine was able to hit the ground running, Shine finally started her family-owned business. Sh
In today’s fashion industry, purchasing a one-of-a-kind purse from an accessible designer is somewhat uncommon. However, one Baylor student is changing that with her brand, KMC Handbags.

Houston junior Kathleen Cisarik is the mind behind the design and production of KMC Handbags. The story behind her brand’s beginnings was not strategic, but spontaneous.

Throughout her life, Cisarik always loved fashion and styling her friends, but sewing just recently became her hobby through watching tutorial videos and teaching herself.

She said the first thing she made was a headband made out of fabric and then a clutch, which she posted on her Instagram Story. One of her friends saw the post and asked to buy it. From then on, Cisarik started designing and posting more of her bags on Instagram and started to receive affirmation from her friends about her purses.

“One of my friends said I should make an Instagram and post my purses and that’s what started it all,” Cisarik said.

The Kathleen Maria Cisarik Handbags Instagram page launched this summer. KMC Handbags is known for the fringe clutch that comes in many different colors and fabrics. Customers have the option to add straps. Each purse is uniquely made once and only once.

“No one will ever have the same purse, which I think is really unique because that never really happens in a department store,” Cisarik said.

Since the launch of KMC Handbags’ Instagram, it has grown in business and loyal customers.

San Antonio sophomore Kate Ballantyne, a KMC customer, said Cisarik’s bags are unlike anything that you would be able to find at a boutique or department store.

“The endless combinations of fabrics, patterns, and styles in KMC Handbags will make it hard to pick which one you want because simply, you are going to want them all,” Ballantyne said.

Boerne junior Savannah Cone is a dear friend of Cisarik’s and a passionate customer of KMC Handbags.

“I love my KMC Handbags. I already have two and they are incredibly beautiful,” Cone said. “The designs and pattern combinations are unique and always stunning. Every time I use one, I get so many compliments. Kat is extremely talented and every bag is a labor of love.”

Although Cisarik said that she wants to see her business grow while she is in school, she does not feel ready to make KMC full time during her busy academic semesters. Her reasoning stands true to her passion and intentions for KMC Handbags. She said designing and making purses is enjoyable, as well as therapeutic for her and she doesn’t want that to change.

“I love to create and design purses, but only to the extent that it is not overwhelming and only enjoyable and fun,” Cisarik said.

Cisarik is one of many college students who are proving there is no age requirement to turn a passion or hobby into a business. She shared some advice for college students who are looking into starting a business of their own:

“Never give up. Always keep on trying and striving to reach your goal and dream of your business and always have a good mindset,” Cisarik said. “It is OK to make mistakes along the way. That is the process in starting a business.”

For more pictures follow @ kmc_handbags on Instagram.
Road work

Bears face UTSA in first away game

ADAM GIBSON

Sports Writer

Baylor football is headed to San Antonio for its first road trip of the season as they take on the UTSA Roadrunners at 5 p.m. Saturday.

The Bears won their first game of the season against ACU on Sept. 1. Junior defensive end James Lockhart said seeing the season with a win is great, but the team is preparing for the rest of the season in order to accomplish different objectives they have for the season.

"In the moment, it feels good. But at the end of the day, we have a goal as a team. We want to be national champions," Lockhart said. "You can't just sit and dwell on one win. You've got to keep moving forward."

It started Monday, watching film, learning the opponent, working on special-teams. It started today, doing in-room. So you've got to move on. You've got to shake hands with the opponent, talk to your coaches, then get in the film room, get ready for the next opponent and just move on from there."

According to a road game can be exciting, but also a challenging way to get a win. Head coach Matt Rhule said going into a road game in a team he has respect for and that we have relationships to play against a team we have respect for in the Alamodome is awesome and at the same time, it's nice to not go too far.

"I didn't think about it at home, I think makes it all that much more of getting your 70 guys in there and hotel, I like the bunker mentality of an away game early on without having to go too far."

Still in Texas gives the experience said going into a road game that is of an away game early on without having to go too far. "You've got to shake hands with the opponent, talk to your coaches, then get in the film room, get ready for the next opponent and just move on from there."

"It was definitely good, especially in the Alamodome. It's been sometimes traditionally a very good environment in the Alamodome."

SURVEY THE FIELD Baylor sophomore midfielder Chrismintia Jobson looks for an open target. Jobson praised the weekend road trip as a team. "We want to be national champions, at the end of the day, we have a goal for the season to take on Arizona State this weekend."

Ariz.

Baylor is led by junior forward Camryn Wendlandt, who has made six goals in just six games and has three assists with three each.

"It is really fun to see," Hayden said. "Coming together quickly is important for us because we are going to get into conference play soon so that's going to be really important for us. There kind of is two times to score and really all of that, to get for it."

Arizona State has scored eight goals in just three games of this season. "It is really fun to see," Hayden said. "Coming together quickly is important for us because we are going to get into conference play soon so that's going to be really important for us. There kind of is two times to score and really all of that, to get for it."

Arizona State is a top 25 team right now doing really well. They are at really organized and very athletic team. They are doing a great job in their matches so I think this team is ready for it. We've been able to make some key adjustments really well in our matches this week."

Rafter is led by junior forward Camryn Wendlandt and senior forward Kyle James, who each have three goals and one assist on the season. Rafter midfielder Taylor Moore and junior forward Raven Paghad both led the team in assists with three each.

The Bears will use those adjustments to continue to work throughout the road trip weekend in 5 p.m. when they take on the San Antonio Roadrunners at 5 p.m. in San Antonio.

Soccer heads to Arizona for weekend trip

ADAM GIBSON

Sports Writer

Baylor soccer heads out on its second road trip of the season to take on Arizona State at 3 p.m. Friday and Arizona at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The Bears (8-2-2) are coming off a 6-0 win over Nebraska to hand the Cornhuskers their second loss of the season. Head coach Paul Johnson said it was an important game to win coming off the road and then preparing for another road trip this upcoming weekend.

"Coming off an emotional game on Friday at Oklahoma, just a fantastic atmosphere there and the chance to come home and sort of replicate it at home for our girls with our fans was awesome," Johnson said. "We had a big kind of momentum shift for us. We learned a lot in previous games and I think we showed a lot of confidence in that."

The Sun Devils, like the Bears, are coming off a loss in their last game which they defeated Southeast Missouri, 4-0 in Sunday's night. The offense for Arizona State managed to get 14 shots on goal with 10 being on target. Johnson praised the Sun Devils because they're "traditionally a very good team" and "one we've seen in the NCAA Tournament in the past."

"It is really fun to see," Hayden said. "Coming together quickly is important for us because we are going to get into conference play soon so that's going to be really important for us. There kind of is two times to score and really all of that, to get for it."

Arizona State is a top 25 team right now doing really well. They are at really organized and very athletic team. They are doing a great job in their matches so I think this team is ready for it. We've been able to make some key adjustments really well in our matches this week."

Rafter is led by junior forward Camryn Wendlandt and senior forward Kyle James, who each have three goals and one assist on the season. Rafter midfielder Taylor Moore and junior forward Raven Paghad both led the team in assists with three each.

The Bears will use those adjustments to continue to work throughout the road trip weekend in 5 p.m. when they take on the San Antonio Roadrunners at 5 p.m. in San Antonio.
Runner of the Week award was well for me. " has helped everything go really team and the coaches this year everything combines with the biggest parts is that I just had Meadows said. "Just putting practices and workouts here, "

"I've had an entire freshman cross-country sophomore since his freshman year. "A runner may block below the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

"I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The other major rule change for the 2018 season is that any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The following student-athletes have been disqualified for hazing or convicted of hazing during the previous three years:

- Name: [Redacted]
- Date of Birth: [Redacted]
- Dates of Enrollment: [Redacted]
- Dates of Disqualification/Conviction: [Redacted]

Additional Notes:

- If a student-athlete is expelled or suspended for hazing or convicted of hazing during the previous three years, the student-athlete will be ineligible for the remainder of the fall semester and the spring semester following the academic year in which the hazing occurred.
- Any student-athlete who engages in hazing or is convicted of hazing during the previous three years will be ineligible for the remainder of the fall semester and the spring semester following the academic year in which the hazing occurred.

Ben Everett
Sports Editor
The Baylor Lariat

The National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame announced this year to implement a new rule regarding gameplay for college football.

"I've had an entire freshman cross-country sophomore since his freshman year. "A runner may block below the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The other major rule change for the 2018 season is that any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The other major rule change for the 2018 season is that any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The other major rule change for the 2018 season is that any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The other major rule change for the 2018 season is that any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)

"I'm taking a bunch of these, they make up most of my races. But I'm doing a lot of that work so I'm sure that helps you to get everything done." With everything going well for Meadows and all the progress he's made, he is looking forward to the match Friday with UT-Austin. "It's an 8K, so it's a little shorter," Meadows said. "Personally, I think it will be a special guy. I like running on a really great track, it's my favorite."

The other major rule change for the 2018 season is that any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the waist rule will be huge because any block below the waist is legal depends not from the front or the side until the threat. Meadows said. (5)